006-01 THE KOREAN WAR AND THE COLD WAR 朝鲜战争与冷战

Table of Contents

1. THE KOREAN WAR AND THE COLD WAR 朝鲜战争与冷战

---

1. THE KOREAN WAR AND THE COLD WAR 朝鲜战争与冷战

With the outbreak of the Korean War in 1950, Hong Kong became a “reluctant (a.)勉强的,不情愿的 Cold Warrior (武士,勇士) 冷战分子.”

Needing American help to maintain its world-power status, Britain wanted to show the United States that it was a loyal and reliable ally 同盟国；盟友, but it also had to keep a low profile（人或组织的）形象,姿态 to avoid provoking the PRC.

At the same time, Britain had to protect its interests in China /and preserve control over Hong Kong.

Britain was less concerned about a direct attack by the PRC than about the prospect 可能性,前景,预期 of Hong Kong being hurt /if hostilities between China and America arose over Indochina, Korea, or Taiwan.

比起中国的直接攻击,英国更担心的是,如果中美在印度支那、朝鲜或台湾问题上爆发敌对行动,香港可能会受到伤害.

The British realized that Hong Kong would be indefensible 不能防卫的 against an invasion by the PRC —however unlikely 不过这不太可能 —but they were also worried about what they referred to as “the American threat.”

The United States needed allies to contain (v.)遏制,防止……蔓延 China, and Hong Kong was the ideal place for gathering intelligence, spreading propaganda, and organizing covert action 隐秘行动；秘密活动 against China.

But the British worried that 主 working too closely with the United States and allowing it too much leeway 回旋余地；自由空间 in Hong Kong 谓 would provoke the PRC into stirring up 煽动 trouble in Hong Kong or attacking the colony /if war broke out with the United States.

Example 1. 案例
leeway

→ leeway原本是个航海术语,由lee（下风处）+way（途径）组成,指的是船只在航行时,受风力影响,向下风方向产生的偏移. 在航行时,必须预先想到船只可能产生的这种偏移,预先留出余裕,以免船只与下风方向的其他物体发生碰撞. 因此,leeway一词便产生了“余裕,回旋余地”的含义.

英 /ˈliːweɪ/ 美 /ˈliːweɪ/ 全球发音

简明 牛津 新牛津 韦氏 柯林斯 例句 百科

lee·way n. /ˈliːweɪ/

[U]the amount of freedom that you have to change sth or to do sth in the way you want to自由活动的空间

SYN latitude

• How much leeway should parents give their children?父母应该给孩子留多少自由的空间？

IDIOMS 习语

1. MAKE UP ˈLEEWAY

(BrE) to get out of a bad position that you are in, especially because you have lost a lot of time 摆脱逆境；（尤指）弥补损失的时间

Example 2. 案例

With the outbreak of the Korean War in 1950, Hong Kong became a “reluctant Cold Warrior.” 2 Needing American help to maintain its world-power status, Britain wanted to show the United States that it was a loyal and reliable ally, but it also had to keep a low profile to avoid provoking the PRC.
At the same time, Britain had to protect its interests in China and preserve control over Hong Kong.
Britain was less concerned about a direct attack by the PRC than about the prospect of Hong Kong being hurt if hostilities between China and America arose over Indochina, Korea, or Taiwan.
The British realized that Hong Kong would be indefensible against an invasion by the PRC—however unlikely—but they were also worried about what they referred to as “the American threat.” The United States needed allies to contain China, and Hong Kong was the ideal place for gathering intelligence, spreading propaganda, and organizing covert action against China.
But the British worried that working too closely with the United States and allowing it too much leeway in Hong Kong would provoke the PRC into stirring up trouble in Hong Kong or attacking the colony if war broke out with the United States.

1950 年朝鲜战争爆发后,香港成为了“不情愿的冷战战士”. 2.
为了维持其世界强国地位,英国需要美国的帮助. 英国希望向美国表明自己是忠诚可靠的盟友,但同时也必须保持低调,避免激怒中华人民共和国. 与此同时,英国必须保护其在中国的利益,并维持对香港的控制. 英国与其说是担心中华人民共和国直接攻击香港,不如说是担心如果中美因印度支那、朝鲜或台湾问题爆发冲突,香港会受到牵连. 英国人意识到,香港几乎无法抵御中华人民共和国的入侵——尽管这种可能性很小——但他们也担忧所谓的“美国威胁”. 美国需要盟友来遏制中国,而香港是收集情报、散布宣传和组织针对中国的秘密行动的理想场所. 但英国担心,与美国合作过于密切,并给予美国在香港过大的自由裁量权,会激怒中华人民共和国,使其在香港制造事端,或者在与美国开战时攻击香港.

Despite America’s historical interest in Hong Kong, by World War II /the United States had attached (v.)认为……具有,赋予；给予 little importance to Hong Kong.

American exports to Hong Kong were marginal 微不足道的；少量的, and the region appeared to have little military value.

The establishment of the PRC and the outbreak of the Korean War, however, 谓 forced the United States to reconsider 重新考虑 Hong Kong’s strategic value.

And with the escalation 升级；逐步升级 of the Cold War, America saw the potential of using existing and former colonies to help contain 遏制；抑制 Communism.

With its proximity （时间、空间、关系的）接近；临近 to China, good British facilities 设施；设备 (including signals-intelligence 信号情报 posts 岗位；哨所), and supply (n.) of local Chinese talent, Hong Kong was a perfect base for intelligence gathering and China-watching 观察中国动态.

In late 1949 /the Central Intelligence Agency established a listening post 监听站 attached to the American consulate 领事馆.

When President Harry Truman closed the American embassy 大使馆 and consulates 领事馆 in China during the winter of 1949–1950, consular (a.)领事的 and reporting 报告的 work shifted to Hong Kong.

Thus, by the 1950s this consulate had a larger staff than any other American consulate in the world.

Hong Kong also played an important role in American psychological 心理的 warfare against China.

The U.S. Information Service 新闻处 in Hong Kong produced anti-Communist magazines, such as America Today and Four Seas, and a variety of brochures 小册子 and pamphlets 小册子.

Example 3. 案例

维度	Brochure	Pamphlet
核心定义	宣传册	传单/小册子
尺寸/页数	通常为多页（如三折页、骑马钉装订）,信息量大	通常为单页（或对折页）,内容简洁
纸张/装帧	纸张较厚,印刷精美,可能有覆膜等工艺	纸张较薄,多为普通纸,成本低
主要用途	商业推广（如酒店介绍、产品目录、服务说明）	信息传播（如活动通知、政治宣传、公益科普）
正式程度	较正式,用于展示品牌形象	较随意,用于快速分发信息

brochure

a small magazine or book containing pictures and information about sth or advertising sth 资料（或广告）手册
•a travel brochure 旅游手册

pamphlet

a very thin book with a paper cover, containing information about a particular subject 小册子；手册

The colony was a popular rest and recreation 娱乐；消遣 destination for the U.S. Navy 海军, as it would be during the Vietnam War.

Governor Alexander Grantham recalled 回忆,回想 how the Chinese government "constantly used this as a propaganda theme 主题；话题; claiming that it proved Hong Kong was a base for American imperialism 帝国主义, and that Britain was a stooge 受人驱使的人；奴才；走狗；走狗 of the United States."

Example 4. 案例

Despite America's historical interest in Hong Kong, by World War II the United States had attached little importance to Hong Kong.
American exports to Hong Kong were marginal, and the region appeared to have little military value.
The establishment of the PRC and the outbreak of the Korean War, however, forced the United States to reconsider Hong Kong's strategic value.
And with the escalation of the Cold War, America saw the potential of using existing and former colonies to help contain Communism.
With its proximity to China, good British facilities (including signals-intelligence posts), and supply of local Chinese talent, Hong Kong was a perfect base for intelligence gathering and China-watching.
In late 1949 the Central Intelligence Agency established a listening post attached to the American consulate.
When President Harry Truman closed the American embassy and consulates in China during the winter of 1949–1950, consular and reporting work shifted to Hong Kong.
Thus, by the 1950s this consulate had a larger staff than any other American consulate in the world.
Hong Kong also played an important role in American psychological warfare against China.
The U.S.
Information Service in Hong Kong produced anti-Communist magazines, such as America Today and Four Seas, and a variety of brochures and pamphlets.
The colony was a popular rest and recreation destination for the U.S.
Navy, as it would be during the Vietnam War.
Governor Alexander Grantham recalled how the Chinese government "constantly used this as a propaganda theme; claiming that it proved that Hong Kong was a base for American imperialism, and that Britain was a stooge of the United States." 3

尽管美国历史上对香港抱有浓厚的兴趣,但在二战期间,美国对香港的重视程度并不高. 美国对香港的出口微乎其微,该地区似乎也缺乏军事价值. 然而,中华人民共和国的成立和朝鲜战争的爆发迫使美国重新审视香港的战略价值. 随着冷战的升级,美国看到了利用现有和前殖民地遏制共产主义的潜力. 香港毗邻中国,拥有完善的英国设施（包括信号情报站）以及丰富的本地人才,使其成为情报收集和监视中国的理想基地. 1949 年末,中央情报局在美国领事馆设立了一个监听站. 1949 年至 1950 年冬季,杜鲁门总统关闭了美国驻华大使馆和领事馆,领事和情报工作转移到了香港. 因此,到了 20 世纪 50 年代,香港领事馆的人员规模超过了世界上任何其他美国领事馆. 香港在美国对华心理战中也扮演了重要角色. 美国驻港新闻处出版了 《今日美国》 和 《四海》等反共杂志, 以及各种宣传册和小册子. 香港是美国海军的热门休憩娱乐场所,越战期间亦是如此. 总督亚历山大·格兰瑟姆回忆说,中国政府 "不断以此为宣传主题,声称这证明香港是美国帝国主义的基地,而英国是美国的傀儡. " [3]

Ironically, the greatest threat to Hong Kong’s economy in the years after the 1949 revolution came not from the Chinese Communists but rather from the United States — the country most determined 坚定的；决意的 to contain the spread of Communism.

Although Hong Kong drew 获得；获取 some economic benefits from supporting (v.) British military operations in Korea, the colony’s economy suffered from two embargoes 禁运；贸易禁令: the United Nations (UN) embargo on strategic goods , imposed 强制实行；强加 on China for intervening in the Korean War, and the American embargo on any trade with China.

The British government also limited (v.) exports to China and Hong Kong, but it was the American embargo inspectors 检查员；检验员 who often took to extremes 走极端 their orders to ensure that no Chinese goods found their way 进入；抵达 through Hong Kong into the United States.

英国政府也限制了对中国和香港的出口,但往往是美国的禁运检查员把命令执行到了极端程度,以确保没有中国商品经由香港进入美国.

“The classic example 一个经典的例子,” explained Grantham, “is that of dried (a.)（食物、花等）干的,除去水分的,脱水的 ducks.
These ducks were processed (v.)加工（食品或其他物质）；处理 in Hong Kong and then exported (v.) to America.
Many of them came from eggs 后定说明 laid in China and brought to Hong Kong to hatch.

它们中的许多都来自于在中国产下、然后被带到香港孵化的蛋.

Were the ducks from these eggs 表 communist ducks or true-blue（对人、团体、原则等）忠贞不渝的,坚定不移的 British ducks?

这些蛋孵出来的鸭子是 “共产主义鸭子”,还是彻头彻尾的英国鸭子

Example 5. 案例
true-blue

英 / ˌtruː ˈbluː / 美 / ˌtruː ˈbluː /

简明 牛津 新牛津 韦氏 柯林斯 例句

ˌtrue-ˈblue adj.

1. (BrE) strongly supporting the British Conservative Party（英国）坚决支持保守党的，忠于保守党的
   - true-blue Tory voters忠于保守党的投票人
2. (especially NAmE) being a loyal supporter of a particular person, group, principle, etc.; being a typical example of sth（对人、团体、原则等）忠贞不渝的，坚定不移的；典型的；有代表性的
   - a true-blue Californian典型的加利福尼亚人

► DeepSeek:

“True-blue”表示“忠诚的、坚定不移的”,这个表达源自染料与颜色的历史.

在化学合成染料出现前,蓝色染料（尤其是用菘蓝或靛蓝植物提取的）具有非常好的色牢度——经多次洗涤和日晒后仍不易褪色. 这种“不褪色”的物理特性,被引申比喻为“不改变、不褪色的忠诚”.

The correspondence 通信；信件 on the subject was voluminous (a.)大量的；浩瀚的 before a solution was finally reached.

Provided that 假如；倘若 an inspector was present when the duck was hatched, that he forthwith 立即；即刻 rubber-stamped (v.)不经审查就批准；盖橡皮图章；草率批准 the duckling’s 小鸭 foot, and that on reaching maturity 成熟；成年 a further marking 标记；记号 was put on the duck, then 主 the ducks 谓 might be slaughtered 屠宰；宰杀, dried and admitted into the United States.”

只要在鸭子孵化时有检查员在场,并且检查员立即在雏鸭的脚上盖上橡皮图章,而且当鸭子成熟后再给它做一个标记,那么这些鸭子就可以被屠宰、风干并获准进入美国.” 4

主 Shrimps 虾；小虾, notes (v.) author Frank Welsh, 谓 faced (v.) a similar predicament 困境；尴尬的处境.
They “might be caught in the admissible 可容许的；获准的 waters of Hong Kong, but had the crustaceans (n.)甲壳类动物 begun their lives there, or were they Communist infiltrators 渗透者；渗入者? In the absence of unequivocal 明确的；毫不含糊的 evidence /all shrimps, therefore, were banned.”

作者弗兰克·威尔士指出,虾也面临着类似的困境. 它们“可能是在香港允许的水域被捕捞的,但这些甲壳类动物是在那里出生的,还是‘共产主义渗透者’呢？由于缺乏明确的证据,因此所有虾类都被禁止了.”

Example 6. 案例
虚拟 / 条件句倒装：had the crustaceans begun...

*当 if 引导的虚拟条件句 中含有 had / were / should 时,可以省略 if,把 had /were/should 提到主语前,形成倒装. *

原句还原： If the crustaceans had begun their lives there...

例:
Had I known, I would have helped. = If I had known, I would have helped. 如果我当时知道,我就会帮忙.

Example 7. 案例

Ironically, the greatest threat to Hong Kong’s economy in the years after the 1949 revolution came not from the Chinese Communists but rather from the United States—the country most determined to contain the spread of Communism.
Although Hong Kong drew some economic benefits from supporting British military operations in Korea, the colony’s economy suffered from two embargoes: the United Nations (UN) embargo on strategic goods, imposed on China for intervening in the Korean War, and the American embargo on any trade with China.
The British government also limited exports to China and Hong Kong, but it was the American embargo inspectors who often took to extremes their orders to ensure that no Chinese goods found their way through Hong Kong into the United States.
“The classic example,” explained Grantham, “is that of dried ducks.
These ducks were processed in Hong Kong and then exported to America.
Many of them came from eggs laid in China and brought to Hong Kong to hatch.
Were the ducks from these eggs communist ducks or true-blue British ducks? The correspondence on the subject was voluminous before a solution was finally reached.
Provided that an inspector was present when the duck was hatched, that he forthwith rubber-stamped the duckling’s foot, and that on reaching maturity a further marking was put on the duck, then the ducks might be slaughtered, dried and admitted into the United States.” 4 Shrimps, notes author Frank Welsh, faced a similar predicament.
They “might be caught in the admissible waters of Hong Kong, but had the crustaceans begun their lives there, or were they Communist infiltrators? In the absence of unequivocal evidence all shrimps, therefore, were banned." 5

具有讽刺意味的是,1949 年革命后香港经济面临的最大威胁并非来自中国共产党,而是来自美国——这个决心遏制共产主义扩张的国家. 尽管香港从支持英国在朝鲜的军事行动中获得了一些经济利益,但这个殖民地的经济却遭受了两项禁运：一是联合国因中国干预朝鲜战争而对中国实施的战略物资禁运；二是美国对中国的一切贸易禁运. 英国政府也限制了对中国内地和香港的出口,但正是美国的禁运检查员经常采取极端手段,确保没有中国商品能够通过香港流入美国. 格兰瑟姆解释说："最经典的例子就是鸭干. 这些鸭子在香港加工后出口到美国. 其中许多鸭蛋产自中国,然后运到香港孵化. 这些鸭子究竟是共产主义鸭还是纯正的英国鸭？围绕这个问题,人们进行了大量的通信,最终才找到解决方案. 只要鸭子孵化时有检查员在场,检查员立即在鸭子的脚上盖上橡皮图章,并在鸭子长大后再加盖一个标记,这些鸭子就可以被宰杀、晒干并进口到美国." 4 作家弗兰克·韦尔什指出,虾也面临着类似的困境. 它们"可能是在香港的合法水域捕捞的,但这些甲壳类动物是在那里出生的,还是共产主义渗透者？由于缺乏确凿的证据,所有虾都被禁止进口." 5

As the Cold War tensions escalated 逐步升级；恶化, Hong Kong became known as the "Berlin of the East." Created partly by British policymakers 政策制定者 to draw international support, this analogy 类比；比喻 obscured (v.)使模糊；掩盖 the fact that Hong Kong's survival depended on working out 设法解决；制定出 a good relationship with the PRC (especially the authorities in Guangdong) rather than alienating (v.)使疏远；使不友好 it.

The Hong Kong government adopted 采取；采用 a very pragmatic 务实的；实用主义的 policy regarding 关于 the PRC during the Korean War and throughout the Cold War. Like the PRC, it simply ignored the issue of Hong Kong's political status.

Hong Kong proved of 证明……的价值或有效性 great use to the PRC during the Korean War, when scarce 稀缺的；不足的 goods such as gas, kerosene 煤油, and penicillin 青霉素 were smuggled in during the embargoes, as 也是如此 were remittances 汇款；侨汇 from overseas Chinese.

在朝鲜战争期间,香港对中国发挥了巨大作用；在禁运时期,汽油、煤油、青霉素等稀缺物资被走私入境,海外华人的侨汇也同样如此.

Example 8. 案例

prove of + 抽象名词 = prove + 形容词

结构：prove of + n. = prove + adj.

of great use = very useful of great importance = very important of great value = very valuable

例句：
This plan proved of great value. 这个计划证明很有价值.
The book proved of great help. 这本书证明很有帮助.

as 也是如此 were remittances 汇款；侨汇 from overseas Chinese.

as 引导方式状语从句 + 完全倒装

as + be / 助动词 + 主语
表示：…… 也一样 / …… 也是如此

例：
- She is tall, as are her sisters. 她很高,她的姐妹们也一样.

- He works hard, as do his parents. 他很努力,他父母也一样.

Many residents in the New Territories benefited from 得益于；从...获益 the embargoes by smuggling goods into China.

Cheung Yan Lung, a local community leader, recalled how “主 whatever could be sold in China 任何能在中国卖的东西 谓 was smuggled by truck or ship.

当地社区领袖 Cheung Yan Lung 回忆道：“所有能在中国销售的东西,都通过卡车或船只走私出境.”

Example 9. 案例

```
└─ 【直接引语（名词性从句作宾语）】 “whatever could be sold in China was smuggled b
        │
        ├─ 【主语从句】 “whatever could be sold in China”
        │        │
        │        ├─ 复合关系代词：whatever（无论什么）
        │        ├─ 谓语：could be sold
        │        └─ 地点状语：in China
        │
        ├─ 谓语：was smuggled
        │
        └─ 方式状语：by truck or ship
```

“whatever could be sold in China” “任何能在中国卖的东西”.

whatever是复合关系代词,相当于 anything that,引导一个名词性从句作主语,表示“所有...的东西”.

On a dark, moonless (a.) night /主 the beach at Kat O 吉澳 谓 often resembled 像；类似于 how I imagine 主 a smugglers’ cove 小湾；隐蔽湾 in eighteenth-century England 谓 would have looked, with small boats, men with lanterns, and piles of goods!”

在一个黑暗的、没有月亮的夜晚,吉澳 (Kat O) 的海滩常常看起来像 (resembled) 我想象中的 (how I imagine) 一个走私者的海湾 (这个海湾是存在于 18 世纪英格兰的, 这个海湾看起来会是怎样的) (would have looked),伴随着 (with) 小船、提着灯笼的男人和成堆的货物！ would have looked 是虚拟语气,表示"对过去情况的推测或想象". 暗示作者并未亲眼见过 18 世纪的走私海湾,只是基于历史描述进行想象.

Example 10. 案例

would have done是英语中表示 “对过去情况的虚拟推测” 的典型结构. 它描述的是 “过去本应发生,但实际上并未发生” 或 “对过去某事的推测” 的情况.

语法公式:
主语 + would (could/might/should) + have + 过去分词 (done)

would:表示“意愿”或“推测” have:构成完成时态
done:过去分词,表示动作发生在过去

Header 1	Header 2
1.对过去情况的假设 (If 虚拟条件句)	这是最常见的用法,通常与 If 条件句 搭配,表示“如果过去...,那么就会...”. 结构： If + 主语 + had done (过去完成时), 主语 + would have done

Header 1	Header 2
	例： • If I had known you were coming, I would have waited for you. 如果我当时知道你要来,我本会等你的. • If she had studied harder, she would have passed the exam. 如果她当时更努力,她本可以通过考试.
2.推测过去可能发生的事	表示说话人根据现有信息,推测过去可能发生了某事. 例： • The ground is wet. It would have rained last night. 地面是湿的. 昨晚可能下过雨了. • He would have arrived in London by now. 他现在应该已经到伦敦了.
3.表示“本应做某事”(责备或遗憾)	带有责备或遗憾的语气,表示过去本应做某事但没做. 例： • You should have told me earlier. 你本应该早点告诉我. • He could have helped us, but he didn’t. 他本可以帮我们,但他没有.

常见变体 (情态动词替换)
除了 would,其他情态动词也可以用于此结构,表达不同的语气：

情态动词	含义	示例
could have done	本能够做 (能力/可能性)	I could have finished it. (我本可以完成的.)
might have done	本可能做 (可能性较小)	He might have forgotten. (他可能忘了.)
should have done	本应该做 (义务/责任)	You should have called me. (你本应给我打电话.)

结合你之前提供的句子进行解析：
"On a dark, moonless night /主 the beach at Kat O 谓 often resembled (v.) how I imagine (v.) a smugglers’ cove in eighteenth-century England would have looked."

would have looked 在这里表示 “推测过去的样子”.
作者并没有亲眼见过 18 世纪的走私海湾,只是根据历史资料或想象,推测它 “当时看起来会是什么样子”. 翻译为： “...我想象中 18 世纪英格兰走私者海湾 会是怎样的. ”

总结要点:
时间指向：would have done永远指向 过去.
事实状态：它描述的是 未发生 或 不确定是否发生 的事.
语气色彩：通常带有 遗憾、推测、假设 的语气.

Example 11. 案例

As the Cold War tensions escalated, Hong Kong became known as the “Berlin of the East.” Created partly by British policymakers to draw international support, this analogy obscured the fact that Hong Kong’s survival depended on working out a good relationship with the PRC (especially the authorities in Guangdong) rather than alienating it.

The Hong Kong government adopted a very pragmatic policy regarding the PRC during the Korean War and throughout the Cold War.
Like the PRC, it simply ignored the issue of Hong Kong’s political status.
Hong Kong proved of great use to the PRC during the Korean War, when scarce goods such as gas, kerosene, and penicillin were smuggled in during the embargoes, as were remittances from overseas Chinese.
Many residents in the New Territories benefited from the embargoes by smuggling goods into China.
Cheung Yan Lung, a local community leader, recalled how “whatever could be sold in China was smuggled by truck or ship.
On a dark, moonless night the beach at Kat O often resembled how I imagine a smugglers’ cove in eighteenth-century England would have looked, with small boats, men with lanterns, and piles of goods!” 6

随着冷战局势升级,香港被称为“东方柏林”. 这一比喻部分是英国决策者为了争取国际支持而提出的,但它掩盖了一个事实：香港的生存取决于与中华人民共和国（尤其是广东省当局）建立良好关系,而不是疏远它. 在朝鲜战争和整个冷战期间,香港政府对中华人民共和国采取了非常务实的政策. 与中华人民共和国一样,香港政府也对香港的政治地位问题置之不理. 在朝鲜战争期间,香港对中华人民共和国发挥了巨大作用,当时禁运期间,汽油、煤油和青霉素等稀缺物资以及海外华人汇款都被走私到中国. 许多新界居民通过向中国走私货物而从禁运中获益. 当地社区领袖张彦龙回忆说：“凡是在中国能卖的东西,都会用卡车或船走私过来. 在漆黑无月的夜晚,吉澳海滩常常就像我想象中十八世纪英国走私者的藏身之处一样,停泊着小船,提着灯笼的人,还有成堆的货物！” 6

Nor did the Berlin of the East analogy (n.)类比；比拟 necessarily imply (v.)暗示；意味着 agreement between Britain and the United States toward China and Hong Kong.

While Britain officially recognized the new PRC on January 6, 1950, America continued to recognize Chiang Kai-shek’s government on Taiwan, the Republic of China.

An incident of late 1949 谓 shows how the Hong Kong government found itself having to balance (v.) its relations with the governments of Britain, China, and the United States.

In December, a dispute arose between Britain and China over Chinese state properties 财产；资产 and the assets 资产；财产 of the China National Aviation Corporation and the Central Air Transport Incorporation 公司；法人团体 (co-owned by American flying ace (（扑克牌中的）A牌；擅长…的人,一流高手)王牌飞行员 Claire Chennault, founder of the legendary 传奇的；著名的 Flying Tigers 飞虎队 in China during World War II), both of which had been transferred to Hong Kong for safety during the civil war.

Example 12. 案例
Corporation 和 Incorporation 有什么区别?

► DeepSeek:

这两个词在法律和商业领域有明确的区别,但在实际使用中,尤其是在公司名称里,有时会混用.

Corporation (股份有限公司 / 公司实体)	Incorporation (法人设立 / 公司组建)
指一个独立的法律实体,是公司本身. 它拥有独立于其股东的法律人格,可以拥有资产、签订合同、起诉和被起诉. 用法：	指“成为法人实体”这个法律过程或状态. 动词是 incorporate,意思是“使…成为法人实体”或“将…注册为公司”. 用法：

Corporation (股份有限公司 / 公司实体)	Incorporation (法人设立 / 公司组建)
• 泛指任何大型企业或商业组织 (特别是美国英语). • 用于公司名称 (如 China National Aviation Corporation 中国航空公司).	• 表示过程：The incorporation of the company took two months.(这家公司的注册,花了两个月.) • 表示状态：The business is now a legal entity by virtue of 凭借；由于 its incorporation. (这家企业通过注册, 已成为法律实体.) • 用于公司名称 (比较少见,但存在)：有些公司会将 Incorporation或 Inc.放在名称中,以强调其是依法注册的法人. 例如,Central Air Transport Incorporation 中央航空运输公司.

简单来说：在法律概念上,Incorporation强调“被组建为法人”这个动作或状态,而 Corporation是组建后形成的“法人实体”. 但在公司名称中,它们都表示“已注册的股份公司”,功能上基本等同,类似于“有限公司”和“股份有限公司”在中文公司名里的使用.
在公司名称里,两者都指向同一个东西：一家正式注册的、具有独立法人地位的公司. 您句子中的差异更多是历史命名惯例,而非本质区别.

中文“公司”在英文中可以有多种译法 (Corp., Inc., Ltd., Co.). 原因是不同时期、不同地区的公司注册法律,对名称后缀的要求或习惯可能不同.

The Nationalist government asked the Hong Kong government to impound 扣押；没收 the airplanes /so they would not be sent to the PRC, where they might be used to invade Taiwan, but before the British government responded, Nationalist agents 特工；代理人 in Hong Kong bombed (v.) seven of the airplanes.

To further complicate (v.)使复杂化 matters, the American government asked the British embassy in Washington if the Hong Kong government could keep the remaining (a.) planes from falling into the hands of 落入……手中 the Chinese Communists.

使事情进一步复杂化的是,美国政府询问英国驻华盛顿大使馆,香港政府能否阻止剩余的飞机落入中国共产党手中.

Example 13. 案例

Nor did the Berlin of the East analogy necessarily imply agreement between Britain and the United States toward China and Hong Kong.
While Britain officially recognized the new PRC on January 6, 1950, America continued to recognize Chiang Kai-shek’s government on Taiwan, the Republic of China.
An incident of late 1949 shows how the Hong Kong government found itself having to balance its relations with the governments of Britain, China, and the United States.
In December, a dispute arose between Britain and China over Chinese state properties and the assets of the China National Aviation Corporation and the Central Air Transport Incorporation (co-owned by American flying ace Claire Chennault, founder of the legendary Flying Tigers in China during World War II), both of which had been transferred to Hong Kong for safety during the civil war.
The Nationalist government asked the Hong Kong government to impound the airplanes so they would not be sent to the PRC, where they might be used to invade Taiwan, but before the British government responded, Nationalist agents in Hong Kong bombed seven of the airplanes.
To further complicate matters, the American government asked the British embassy in Washington if the Hong Kong government could keep the remaining planes from falling into the hands of the Chinese Communists.

“东方柏林”的比喻也并不一定意味着英国和美国在对待中国和香港的问题上达成一致. 尽管英国于1950年1月6日正式承认中华人民共和国,但美国仍然承认蒋介石在台湾的政权,即中华民国. 1949年末发生的一件事表明,香港政府不得不努力平衡与英国、中国和美国三国政府的关系. 同年12月,英国和中国就中国国有财产以及中国国家航空公司和中央航空运输公司（由美国飞行王牌克莱尔·陈纳德共同拥有,他是二战期间在中国创建传奇飞虎队的创始人）的资产发生争端. 这两家公司在内战期间为了安全起见被转移到了香港. 国民党政府要求香港政府扣押这些飞机,以免它们被送往中华人民共和国,用于入侵台湾. 但在英国政府做出回应之前,国民党在香港的特工炸毁了其中七架飞机. 更复杂的是,美国政府询问英国驻华盛顿大使馆,香港政府能否阻止剩余的飞机落入中国共产党手中.

When the Hong Kong chief justice 首席法官 ruled in April 1950 that /the airplanes belonged to the new PRC government, the U.S. State Department 国务院 pressured the British government to intervene.

Fully aware of the implications 可能的影响（或作用、结果） of the issue for Sino-British relations, the British worried that 主 not releasing 释放；放走；使自由；放开 the airplanes 谓 might cause the PRC to organize (v.) strikes, riots, and sabotage (n.v.)蓄意破坏；故意损害 in Hong Kong or to impose 推行；强制实行 an economic embargo.

Example 14. 案例

sabotage

→ 来自法语 sabotage,捣乱,破坏,来自 sabot,木鞋,来自中古法语 savate,旧鞋子,词源同 sabaton,护脚甲,savate,法国腿踢,ciabatta,拖鞋面包. 现词义据说是来自 18,19 世纪机器工业刚兴 起时,#手工业者担心机器会抢走他们的饭碗,愤而把木鞋扔进机器里面破坏机器运转. #

英 / ˈsæbətɑːʒ / 美 / ˈsæbətɑːʒ / 全球发音

简明 牛津 新牛津 韦氏 柯林斯 例句 百科

n. v.

sabo·tage /ˈsæbətɑːʒ/

[VN]

1. to damage or destroy sth deliberately to prevent an enemy from using it or to protest about sth蓄意破坏（以防止敌方利用或表示抗议）
   - The main electricity supply had been sabotaged by the rebels.叛乱者破坏了供电干线。
2. to prevent sth from being successful or being achieved, especially deliberately刻意阻碍；妨碍；捣乱
   - Protesters failed to sabotage the peace talks.抗议者未能破坏和平谈判。
   - The rise in interest rates sabotaged any chance of the firm's recovery.由于利率的提高，公司的复苏已无任何可能。

On the other hand, giving the airplanes to the PRC would hurt (v.) relations with the United States.

Warning that the airplanes could be used to attack not just Taiwan but Japan and Southeast Asia /and accusing 指责；控告 Britain of helping the spread of Communism, vocal (a.)直言不讳的；大声表达的 American senators 参议员 and congressmen 国会议员 threatened (v.) to withhold 拒绝给予；保留 support for programs 计划,规划 that provided economic assistance to Britain.

Although the British government tried hard to avoid any appearance 显得；看起来；似乎 of being under American pressure, in June 1952 the Judicial Committee 审判委员会,司法委员会 of the Privy Council 枢密院 ruled that /the airplanes were the legal property 合法财产 of Central Air Transport but should not 不应该 be transferred to Taiwan.

The airplanes were eventually sold as scrap metals 废金属 and spare parts 备件；配件 by their legal owners 合法拥有者.

Example 15. 案例

When the Hong Kong chief justice ruled in April 1950 that the airplanes belonged to the new PRC government, the U.S.
State Department pressured the British government to intervene.
Fully aware of the implications of the issue for Sino-British relations, the British worried that not releasing the airplanes might cause the PRC to organize strikes, riots, and sabotage in Hong Kong or to impose an economic embargo.
On the other hand, giving the airplanes to the PRC would hurt relations with the United States.
Warning that the airplanes could be used to attack not just Taiwan but Japan and Southeast Asia and accusing Britain of helping the spread of Communism, vocal American senators and congressmen threatened to withhold support for programs that provided economic assistance to Britain.
Although the British government tried hard to avoid any appearance of being under American pressure, in June 1952 the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council ruled that the airplanes were the legal property of Central Air Transport but should not be transferred to Taiwan.
The airplanes were eventually sold as scrap metals and spare parts by their legal owners.

1950年4月,香港首席大法官裁定这些飞机属于新成立的中华人民共和国政府所有. 美国国务院随即向英国政府施压,要求其介入此事. 英国方面深知此事对中英关系的影响,担心若不归还飞机,中华人民共和国政府可能会在香港组织罢工、暴乱和破坏活动,甚至实施经济封锁. 另一方面,将飞机交给中华人民共和国政府又会损害英美关系. 一些美国参议员和众议员警告说,这些飞机不仅可能被用来攻击台湾,还可能被用来攻击日本和东南亚,并指责英国助长共产主义的传播. 他们威胁要停止对英国提供经济援助的项目的支持. 尽管英国政府竭力避免给人留下受到美国施压的印象,但1952年6月,枢密院司法委员会裁定,这些飞机是中央航空运输公司的合法财产,但不应移交给台湾. 这些飞机最终被其合法所有者作为废金属和零部件出售.