006-03 COPING IN THE NEW WORLD ORDER 如何在新世界秩序中应对

Table of Contents

1. COPING IN THE NEW WORLD ORDER 如何在新世界秩序中应对

---

1. COPING IN THE NEW WORLD ORDER 如何在新世界秩序中应对

By the late 1950s, Hong Kong had resumed （中断后）继续,重新获得；恢复 its stature 声望；地位；身高 as one of the busiest ports in the world.
Its economy had become even more industrialized 工业化的.

However, Hong Kong had lost (v.) any real strategic importance for Britain, whose territorial 领土的；土地的 interests in Asia 谓 disappeared with the independence of India, Burma, Malaya, and most of the other former British colonies in the region.

The Hong Kong garrison 驻军；卫戍部队 was reduced to a minimal level, and the naval dockyard 造船厂；船坞 was closed.

In October 1957, Prime Minister 首相；总理 Harold Macmillan and President Dwight Eisenhower 艾森豪威尔 secretly agreed that /in return for 作为对……的回报 Britain’s promise —at least for the time being 目前；暂时 —not to push for 竭力争取；反复请求 China’s admission 加入；进入；承认 to the UN, the United States would help defend (v.) Hong Kong in case of 万一；如果发生 an attack by China.

1957年10月,英国首相哈罗德·麦克米伦与美国总统德怀特·艾森豪威尔秘密达成协议：英国承诺至少暂时不推动中国加入联合国,作为交换,美国将在中国进攻香港时, 协助防卫香港.

Example 1. 案例
push for sth |push sb for sth

5. ˈpush for sth | ˈpush sb for sth

to repeatedly ask for sth or try to make sth happen because you think it is very important（向某人）反复要求，施压争取...

- The pressure group is pushing for a ban on GM foods.压力集团正强烈要求取缔转基因食品。
- I'm going to have to push you for an answer.我将不得不催促你答复了。

Example 2. 案例

By the late 1950s, Hong Kong had resumed its stature as one of the busiest ports in the world.
Its economy had become even more industrialized.
However, Hong Kong had lost any real strategic importance for Britain, whose territorial interests in Asia disappeared with the independence of India, Burma, Malaya, and most of the other former British colonies in the region.

The Hong Kong garrison was reduced to a minimal level, and the naval dockyard was closed.
In October 1957, Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and President Dwight Eisenhower secretly agreed that in return for Britain’s promise—at least for the time being—not to push for China’s admission to the UN, the United States would help defend Hong Kong in case of an attack by China.

到了20世纪50年代末,香港已恢复了其作为世界最繁忙港口之一的地位,经济也更加工业化. 然而,随着印度、缅甸、马来亚以及该地区大多数其他前英国殖民地的独立,英国在亚洲的领土利益也随之消失,香港对英国而言已失去了任何真正的战略意义. 香港驻军被削减至最低限度,海军船坞也被关闭. 1957年10月,英国首相哈罗德·麦克米伦和美国总统德怀特·艾森豪威尔秘密达成协议：作为交换,英国承诺——至少暂时——不推动中国加入联合国,而美国将在香港遭受中国攻击时协助保卫香港.

The 1950s were nevertheless 然而；尽管如此 critical years for Hong Kong.

Many of the refugees from China lived (v.) in squatter (n.)擅自占地的；无合法居留权的 areas nestled 依偎；坐落 in the hillside 山坡,山腹；山腰, without water or electricity /and at the risk of fires and mud slides 泥石流.

Example 3. 案例
squatter

(n.) a person who is living in a building or on land without permission and without paying rent 擅自占用他人房子（或土地）的人

→ squat,擅自占用,-er,人. 来自中古法语 squatten,蹲坐

Elsie Tu (formerly 以前；原来 Elsie Elliot), a British educator, social activist 社会活动家, and former member of the Legislative Council 立法会 who arrived in Hong Kong in 1951 as a missionary 传教士 and lived among the squatters, recalls 回忆；回想 how hard life could be for these refugee families, in which many of the women were embroiderers 刺绣工；绣花工.

Example 4. 案例
embroider

英 /ɪmˈbrɔɪdə(r)/ 美 /ɪmˈbrɔɪdər/ 全球发音

简明 牛津 新牛津 韦氏 柯林斯 例句

em·broi·der v. /ɪmˈbrɔɪdə(r)/

1. ~ A (on B) | ~ B (with A) to decorate cloth with a pattern of stitches usually using coloured thread刺绣

   [VN]

   - an embroidered blouse绣花女衬衫
   - She embroidered flowers on the cushion covers.她在这些靠垫套上绣了花。
   - She embroidered the cushion covers with flowers.她在这些靠垫套上绣了花。

   [alsoV]

2. [VN] to make a story more interesting by adding details that are not always true加以渲染（或润色）；添枝加叶

   SYN embellish

Even though they worked “from dawn to dusk 从黎明到黄昏；从早到晚,” these women “could not earn (v.) enough to feed one person.
Father had to work at another job, and the children had to earn their coppers 铜钱；少量零钱 if the family was to eat at all 如果这个家庭想要（有可能）吃上饭的话.

Example 5. 案例
if the family was to eat at all be to do 结构在这里表示 “意图、目的、想要达成的事”,接近于 “if the family wanted/intended to eat” （如果这个家庭想吃上饭）.

at all：这个短语与否定或条件句连用时,表示 “根本、完全、无论如何”,用来强调最低限度或极端情况. 在这里,它强调了 “吃饭” 这个最基本的需求都难以满足.

直译：如果这个家庭还想有口饭吃的话.

例:

- If we are to catch the train, we must leave now. (如果我们想赶上火车,现在就必须出发.)
- He had to take three jobs if he was to survive at all. (他必须打三份工,才能勉强活下去.)
- We need a miracle if we are to win at all. (我们要想赢（哪怕只是险胜）,都需要奇迹.）

be to do 结构是英语中一种特殊的半助动词 (Semi-modal) 结构,由 be动词 (am/is/are/was/were) 加上 to不定式 构成. #它不是表示 “将来时”,而是表达一种 “计划、安排、义务、可能性或命运” 的情态意义. #

Header 1	Header 2
1：表示 “计划” 或 “安排” (Plan/Arrangement)	这是最常见的用法,通常指官方、正式或既定的计划,比 will或 be going to更正式、更确定.

<table>
<tr><th>Header 1</th><th>Header 2</th></tr>
<tr><td></td><td><ul><li>The president is to visit China next month. 总统计划下个月访问中国. 解析：这是官方日程表上的安排,不是随意的打算.</li></ul></td></tr>
<tr><td>2：表示“命令”或“义务” (Command/Obligation)</td><td>通常用于上级对下级、规则或指示,语气比 must或 have to更正式、更书面化.<ul><li>You are to finish this report by Friday. 你必须在周五前完成这份报告. 解析：这是上级下达的指令,带有强制性.</li></ul>虽然 be to do有时翻译为“必须”,但它与 have to和 must在语气和语境上有所不同：
<table>
<tr><th>结构</th><th>语气</th><th>常见语境</th><th>例句</th></tr>
<tr><td>be to do</td><td>正式、书面</td><td>计划、命令、规则</td><td>You are to report to the manager. (正式指令)</td></tr>
<tr><td>have to</td><td>客观、中性</td><td>客观需要、外部压力</td><td>I have to go now. (客观时间到了)</td></tr>
<tr><td>must</td><td>主观、强烈</td><td>个人决心、强烈建议</td><td>I must finish this today. (个人决心)</td></tr>
</table></td></tr>
<tr><td>3：表示“可能性” (Possibility)</td><td>通常用于条件句 (if 从句) 或 新闻报道 中,表示一种基于现有条件的推测.<ul><li>If he is to succeed, he must work harder. 如果他想要成功,就必须更努力. 解析：这里的 is to表示“想要达成某种结果”的可能性条件.</li><li>if the family was to eat at all. 这里表示 “如果这个家庭想要（有可能）吃上饭的话”. 它强调了“吃饭”这个目标需要满足特定条件才能实现.</li></ul></td></tr>
<tr><td>4：表示“命运”或“注定” (Destiny/Fate)</td><td>通常用于过去时 (was/were to do),表示“后来果然发生了”或“命中注定”.<ul><li>He was to become one of the greatest scientists of his time. 他后来果然成为了他那个时代最伟大的科学家之一. 解析：这是回顾历史时的叙述,表示后来的结果.</li></ul></td></tr>
<tr><td>5：用于“禁止” (Prohibition)</td><td>否定形式 be not to do常表示“禁止”或“不允许”.<ul><li>You are not to leave the room without permission. 未经允许,你不得离开房间. 解析：这是严格的禁令,常见于规章制度.</li></ul></td></tr>
</table>

They used only small oil lamps 油灯 in those huts 简陋小屋；棚屋 and could scarcely 几乎不；简直不 work after dark, so they would sit at their doorways to catch the last ray 光束,光线 of light, straining 损伤；使过度劳累 their eyes over the fine 细微的,细密的 silk strands 丝；线；缕.”

Some of the women “were near blind at forty years of age.” Even young children “sat for all those hours trying to earn their rice....

Most of the children, even the tiniest 微小的,极小的 babies, suffered from enormous 巨大的；极大的 boils 疖子；脓肿 and skin infections 皮肤感染, due to 由于,因为 malnutrition 营养不良 and hot, sticky 闷热的；潮湿的 living conditions."

Example 6. 案例

The 1950s were nevertheless critical years for Hong Kong.
Many of the refugees from China lived in squatter areas nestled in the hillside, without water or electricity and at the risk of fires and mud slides.
Elsie Tu (formerly Elsie Elliot), a British educator, social activist, and former member of the Legislative Council who arrived in Hong Kong in 1951 as a missionary and lived among the squatters, recalls how hard life could be for these refugee families, in which many of the women were embroiderers.
Even though they worked "from dawn to dusk," these women "could not earn enough to feed one person.
Father had to work at another job, and the children had to earn their coppers if the family was to eat at all.
They used only small oil lamps in those huts and could scarcely work after dark, so they would sit at their doorways to catch the last ray of light, straining their eyes over the fine silk strands." Some of the women "were near blind at forty years of age." Even young children "sat for all those hours trying to earn their rice....
Most of the children, even the tiniest babies, suffered from enormous boils and skin infections, due to malnutrition and hot, sticky living conditions." 9

然而,20 世纪 50 年代对香港而言却是至关重要的时期. 许多来自中国的难民居住在山坡上的棚户区,那里没有水电,还面临着火灾和泥石流的威胁. 英国教育家、社会活动家、前立法会议员杜艾尔西（原名艾尔西·艾略特）于 1951 年以传教士的身份来到香港,并与棚户区居民一起生活. 她回忆起这些难民家庭的生活有多么艰难,其中许多妇女都是刺绣工. 尽管她们"从早到晚"辛勤劳作,却"挣不到足够的钱养活一家人. 父亲不得不另谋生路,孩子们也必须挣钱,一家人才能有饭吃. 她们在棚屋里只能使用小油灯,天黑后几乎无法继续工作,只能坐在门口,抓住最后一缕光线,眯着眼睛仔细地绣着细密的丝线. "有些妇女"四十岁时几乎失明". 就连年幼的孩子"也得长时间坐着挣钱.....大多数孩子,甚至最小的婴儿,都因为营养不良和闷热潮湿的生活环境而患有巨大的疖子和皮肤感染. " 9

It has become commonplace (a.n.)常见的；普遍的 to assume 假定；认为；承担 that /the colonial government did not respond (v.) to the problem of these squatter 擅自占地者；寮屋居民 areas until 主 a massive fire on December 24, 1953, in Shek Kip Mei, Kowloon, 谓 left homeless more than fifty-eight thousand people /and prompted the government to construct (v.) multistory (a.)多层的 "resettlement 重新安置；移民安置 estates 住宅区；庄园；地产."

As anthropologist 人类学家 Alan Smart argues, however, 主 the government's response to the Shek Kip Mei disaster 灾难；灾害 谓 did not represent (v.) a radical 根本的；彻底的 break from earlier policies toward resettlement.

Contrary to 与...相反 the "Shek Kip Mei myth 神话；错误观念," the colonial government had in fact begun substantial 大量的；实质性的 efforts to resettle (v.)使重新定居 squatters 非法占用公地（或财产）的人 in 1952, mainly because it feared (v.) that Hong Kong's vulnerable 脆弱的；易受伤害的 geopolitical 地缘政治的 position could be disrupted by civil disturbances 骚乱；动乱；干扰 following squatter fires /and because squatter sites 场所；地点 not only posed 造成；提出；摆出生 serious health and safety risks but also threatened (v.) government land revenues 收入；税收.

与 “石硖尾神话” 相反,殖民政府实际上早在 1952 年就已开始大力安置寮屋居民,主要原因是其担心香港脆弱的地缘政治地位可能因寮屋区火灾引发的社会骚乱而受到冲击,同时寮屋区不仅存在严重的卫生与安全隐患,还会损害政府的土地收益.

主 Taking a slightly different approach 方法；途径 谓 yet also underscoring 在……下面划线；强调；突出 the strategic purpose of these resettlement efforts, historian 历史学家 David Faure argues that /Shek Kip Mei provided an ideal excuse 借口；理由 for the colonial government, 主 which, under pressure 受到压力 from the Colonial Office, 谓 had wanted to introduce (v.) public housing earlier /but faced (v.) opposition 反对；反抗 from the Chinese elite.

历史学家 David Faure 从略有不同的角度出发,同样强调了这些安置工作的战略意图. 他认为,石硖尾事件为殖民政府提供了绝佳的借口 —— 该政府此前已在殖民部的压力下有意推行公共住房政策,却遭到华人精英阶层的反对.

Regardless 不管怎样；无论如何, the government’s public housing scheme 计划；方案；体系 developed into a massive resettlement program run by the new Resettlement Department and accompanied 伴随；陪同 by an expansion of education and medical services.

无论如何,政府的公共住房计划, 最终发展为由新成立的"安置署"负责实施的大规模安置项目,并同步配套了教育与医疗服务的扩展.

The British, Chinese, and American governments all contributed to the housing scheme, once again showing Hong Kong’s new geopolitical position.

Example 7. 案例

It has become commonplace to assume that the colonial government did not respond to the problem of these squatter areas until a massive fire on December 24, 1953, in Shek Kip Mei, Kowloon, left homeless more than fifty-eight thousand people and prompted the government to construct multistory “resettlement estates.” As anthropologist Alan Smart argues, however, the government’s response to the Shek Kip Mei disaster did not represent a radical break from earlier policies toward resettlement.
Contrary to the “Shek Kip Mei myth,” the colonial government had in fact begun substantial efforts to resettle squatters in 1952, mainly because it feared that Hong Kong’s vulnerable geopolitical position could be disrupted by civil disturbances following squatter fires and because squatter sites not only posed serious health and safety risks but also threatened government land revenues.10 Taking a slightly different approach yet also underscoring the strategic purpose of these resettlement efforts, historian David Faure argues that Shek Kip Mei provided an ideal excuse for the colonial government, which, under pressure from the Colonial Office, had wanted to introduce public housing earlier but faced opposition from the Chinese elite.11 Regardless, the government’s public housing scheme developed into a massive resettlement program run by the new Resettlement Department and accompanied by an expansion of education and medical services.
The British, Chinese, and American governments all contributed to the housing scheme, once again showing Hong Kong’s new geopolitical position.

人们普遍认为,直到 1953 年 12 月 24 日九龙石硖尾发生大火,导致超过 5.8 万人无家可归,并促使政府兴建多层“安置屋”之后,殖民政府才开始关注这些棚户区的问题. 然而,正如人类学家艾伦·斯马特所论证的那样,政府对石硖尾灾难的应对并非彻底颠覆了其早期的安置政策. 与“石硖尾神话”相反,殖民政府实际上早在 1952 年就开始大力安置棚户居民,这主要是因为政府担心棚户区火灾引发的骚

乱会破坏香港脆弱的地缘政治地位,而且棚户区不仅存在严重的健康和安全隐患,还会威胁政府的土地收入. 10 历史学家大卫·福尔（David Faure）采取了略有不同的视角,但也强调了这些安置工作的战略目的 . 他认为,石硖尾为殖民地政府提供了一个理想的借口. 殖民地政府迫于殖民地事务部的压力,本想更早推行公共房屋,但却遭到了中国精英阶层的反对. 11 尽管如此,政府的公共房屋计划最终发展成为一项由新成立的安置署负责的大规模安置项目,并伴随着教育和医疗服务的扩展. 英国、中国和美国政府都为这项房屋计划做出了贡献,这再次展现了香港新的地缘政治地位.

Although more than 30 percent of Hong Kong’ s population lived in government housing by the 1960s, 主 these new resettlement 重新安置；移民安置 policies 谓 revealed (v.) how Hong Kong 系 remained 表 well behind the rest of the industrialized 工业化的 world in terms of social welfare 社会福利.

虽然到20世纪60年代,超过30%的香港人口住在政府房屋里,但这些新的安置政策表明,香港在社会福利方面仍远远落后于其他工业化国家.

Example 8. 案例
well

2. thoroughly and completely完全地；彻底地；全部地
   - Add the lemon juice and mix well.加进柠檬汁并搅拌均匀。
   - The surface must be well prepared before you start to paint.一定要把表面打磨好再开始粉刷。
   - How well do you know Carla?你对卡拉有多了解？
   - He's well able to take care of himself.他完全能够自理。
   (BrE , informal)
   - I was well annoyed, I can tell you.我跟你说吧，我那时气坏了。
3. to a great extent or degree很；相当；大大地；远远地
   - He was driving at well over the speed limit.他当时开车的速度远远超过了限制。
   - a well-loved tale深受喜爱的故事
   - The castle is well worth a visit.这座城堡很值得参观。
   - He liked her well enough (= to a reasonable degree) but he wasn't going to make a close friend of her.他够喜欢她的，但并不打算和她结为密友。

The tiny, overcrowded apartments in the new public housing units 系 were often little better 比…好不了多少 than the squatter 擅自占地者；寮屋居民 huts 棚屋；简陋小屋 后定说明 they were designed to replace.

新建公共住房单元中狭小拥挤的公寓,往往比它们原本要取代的棚户区好不了多少.

Elsie Tu recalls (v.) how 主 the rooms in these “rabbit warrens (兔子窝,过道狭窄的建筑; 街道狭窄而密集的街区) 拥挤狭小的住所” 谓 averaged only 120 square feet 平方英尺 for a family of five /and 86 square feet for smaller families.

Elsie Tu 回忆说,在这些“养兔场”里,五口之家的房间平均只有120平方英尺,小家庭的房间平均只有86平方英尺.

Small children “were counted as 被算作 half persons” and were allocated 分配；配给 only 12 square feet each.

“A flat 谓 consisted of a square or oblong (a.)长方形的；椭圆形的 room, with concrete 混凝土 walls, without decoration 装饰；装潢, and with neither kitchen nor bathroom.

一套公寓由一间正方形或长方形的房间构成,墙面为混凝土材质,没有任何装饰,也不配备厨房和浴室.

Example 9. 案例

oblong 为什么既是长方形, 又是椭圆形?

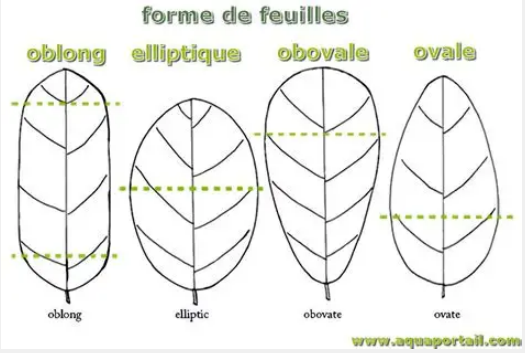
► DeepSeek:

数学/几何学：oblong特指 “长方形”. 数学定义：oblong= 非正方形的矩形.
日常口语/描述：oblong泛指 “拉长的形状”,包括拉长的圆（椭圆）和拉长的矩形.

在日常英语中,人们使用 oblong时,往往不关心边是直的还是弯的,只关心“形状是否被拉长”. 因此,它常被用来描述椭圆形（oval）,因为椭圆也是“被拉长的圆”. oblong捕捉了这种“长形”的视觉特征,而忽略了数学上的边角细节.

- an oblong (a.) table（一张长桌,可能是长方形桌,也可能是椭圆形桌）.

oblong源自拉丁语 oblongus,#由 ob-（朝向）和 longus（长的）组成,核心意思就是 “比宽要长” 或 “被拉长的”. #



Cooking 烹饪 was usually done on the narrow verandahs 走廊；阳台 that surrounded each block, though that was supposed （根据所知）认为,推断,料想 to be illegal.

做饭通常是在每个街区周围狭窄的阳台上进行的,尽管这被认为是非法的.

Communal 公共的；共用的 toilets and bathrooms were situated 位于；坐落在 in the centre of each block 栋,座,幢 of flats, along with 除…以外（还）；与…同样地 a washroom for laundering 洗涤；洗衣.

With no full-size doors, it became a nightmare for women to use the bathrooms, and they usually had to be accompanied by another person, because of the prevalence 普遍；盛行 of ‘peeping toms 偷窥狂,偷窥者.’ The toilets themselves consisted only of a narrow channel that ran through the whole row of toilets.
At regular intervals 每隔一段时间；定期 water flowed (v.) through the channel to flush 冲洗；冲刷 it.”

由于没有全尺寸的门,女性使用这些卫生间成了一场噩梦,而且因为偷窥狂随处可见,她们通常需要有人陪同. 厕所本身只是一条贯穿整排隔间的狭窄沟槽,每隔一段时间就会有水从沟槽中流过,进行冲洗.

Example 10. 案例

Although more than 30 percent of Hong Kong’s population lived in government housing by the 1960s, these new resettlement policies revealed how Hong Kong remained well behind the rest of the industrialized world in terms of social welfare.
The tiny, overcrowded apartments in the new public housing units were often little better than the squatter huts they were designed to replace.

Elsie Tu recalls how the rooms in these "rabbit warrens" averaged only 120 square feet for a family of five and 86 square feet for smaller families.
Small children "were counted as half persons" and were allocated only 12 square feet each.
"A flat consisted of a square or oblong room, with concrete walls, without decoration, and with neither kitchen nor bathroom.
Cooking was usually done on the narrow verandahs that surrounded each block, though that was supposed to be illegal.
Communal toilets and bathrooms were situated in the centre of each block of flats, along with a washroom for laundering.
With no full-size doors, it became a nightmare for women to use the bathrooms, and they usually had to be accompanied by another person, because of the prevalence of 'peeping toms.' The toilets themselves consisted only of a narrow channel that ran through the whole row of toilets.
At regular intervals water flowed through the channel to flush it." 12

尽管到 20 世纪 60 年代,香港超过 30%的人口居住在政府公屋中,但这些新的安置政策却暴露出香港在社会福利方面仍然远远落后于其他工业化国家. 新建公屋里狭小拥挤的公寓,往往比它们原本要取代的棚户区也好不到哪里去. 艾尔西·图回忆说,这些"兔子窝"里的房间,五口之家平均只有 120 平方英尺,小家庭也只有 86 平方英尺. 幼儿"被算作半个人",每人只分配到 12 平方英尺的空间. "公寓通常由一个方形或长方形的房间组成,墙壁是水泥的,没有任何装饰,既没有厨房也没有浴室. 做饭通常在环绕每栋楼的狭窄走廊上进行,尽管这在当时被认为是违法的. 公共厕所和浴室位于每栋公寓楼的中心,旁边还有一个洗衣房. 由于没有全尺寸的门,女性使用浴室成了噩梦,而且由于偷窥者猖獗,她们通常需要另一个人陪同. 厕所本身只有一条贯穿整排厕所的狭窄通道. 每隔一段时间,水就会流过通道进行冲洗." 12

The government also continued to rely heavily for social welfare on religious (a.) and charitable 慈善的；仁慈的 organizations, such as the Catholic Maryknoll Sisters who, writes (v.) historian Cindy Chu, "spearheaded (v.)带头；领先；做先锋 efforts for poor refugee communities"；opened (v.) schools, clinics 诊所, and youth centers 青少年中心 in resettlement 重新安置；移民安置 estates 房地产; and "traveled (v.) the hillsides of wooden shacks 简陋小屋；棚屋 and cared for the needy (a.)（人）贫困的；（环境）贫穷的；需要关注的,需要情感支持的."

政府在社会福利方, 面仍高度依赖宗教及慈善组织,例如天主教玛利诺修女会. 历史学家辛迪·朱写道,该修女会"带头为贫困的难民群体奔走效力",在安置区开办学校、诊所和青年活动中心,并"走遍山坡上的木屋棚户,救助有需要的人". 殖民政府没有为来自中国的难民提供更多援助,原因之一是当局认为,一旦中国国内局势稳定,这些难民便会返回故土.

主 One reason the colonial government did not do more for the refugees from China 系 was that /it thought (v.) they would return to China once conditions there settled (a.v.)(不大可能变动的；稳定的;解决,结束（纠纷））一旦那里的条件稳定下来.

As G.B.Endacott explained, however, "the unspoken 不言而喻的；未说出口的 assumption 假定；假设；看法 was that /Asians, and in particular the Chinese, were not forced to come to Hong Kong, and if they did so /that was their own affair and they must accept conditions as 如同、按照、以...的方式 they found them."

Example 11. 案例
这里 as they found them 中的 as 是什么意思?

这里的 as 是介词,意思是 "如同、按照、以...的方式".

accept conditions：接受条件/环境
as they found them：按照他们发现这些条件/环境时的样子

直译：他们必须按照（自己）发现这些条件时的样子来接受它们.

Many colonial officials feared that 主 providing too much social welfare 谓 would only attract (v.) more refugees from the mainland.

Twisted 扭曲的；反常的 as 主 this logic 谓 may seem, it echoed 重复；附和；与...相似 an old concern 后定说明 shared (v.) not just by colonial officials and Chinese elites but also by many ordinary Chinese, who often justified 证明...正当；为...辩护 conditions in Hong Kong by contrasting 对比；对照 them with those on the mainland.

Example 12. 案例
Twisted as this logic may seem

“Twisted as this logic may seem” 是一个让步状语从句的"倒装结构",意思是 “尽管/虽然这种逻辑看起来是扭曲的”.

正常语序：Although this logic may seem twisted, ...
倒装语序：Twisted as this logic may seem, ...

结构公式：形容词/副词/名词 + as + 主语 + 谓语动词

“Adj. as + S + V” 是让步状语从句倒装结构. 它用来表达“尽管/虽然...”的意思

*Adj. (形容词)：放在句首,是被强调的核心内容. *
*as：引导词,相当于 although或 though. *
S + V：主语和谓语动词,保持正常语序.

例：

- 正常语序：Although he is young, he is very experienced.
  倒装语序：Young as he is, he is very experienced.
  （尽管他很年轻,但他经验丰富.）

除了形容词,名词和副词也可以用于这种结构：

类型	结构公式	示例	含义
形容词	Adj. + as + S + V	Poor as he was, he was honest.	尽管他穷,但他诚实.
名词	N.+ as + S + V	Child as he is, he knows a lot.	尽管他是个孩子,但他懂得很多. 注意：当使用名词时,名词前通常不加冠词（如 a, an, the）. 例如不能说 A child as he is,而要说 Child as he is.
副词	Adv. + as + S + V	Hard as he tried, he failed.	尽管他努力尝试,但还是失败了.

这种结构在句子中充当"让步状语从句",表示转折或对比. 它的语气比普通的 although从句更强,更正式,常见于书面语、演讲或文学作品.

强调让步：通过将形容词前置,突出了“尽管存在某种不利条件”这一事实.
增强对比：通过倒装,使主句（通常表示结果）与从句（表示让步）的对比更加鲜明.

你之前问的句子：“Twisted as this logic may seem, it echoed an old concern...”
结构拆解：
Adj.：Twisted（扭曲的、荒谬的）
S + V：this logic may seem

逻辑分析：
作者先承认这种逻辑（怕福利太好吸引难民）是“扭曲的”（Twisted as...）,这是一种让步.
然后话锋一转,指出这种扭曲逻辑背后其实反映了一个普遍的社会心理（it echoed an old concern）.

翻译：尽管/虽说这种逻辑看起来十分扭曲,但它却呼应了一个古老的忧虑...

Example 13. 案例

The government also continued to rely heavily for social welfare on religious and charitable organizations, such as the Catholic Maryknoll Sisters who, writes historian Cindy Chu, “spearheaded efforts for poor refugee communities”; opened schools, clinics, and youth centers in resettlement estates; and “traveled the hillsides of wooden shacks and cared for the needy.” 13 One reason the colonial government did not do more for the refugees from China was that it thought they would return to China once conditions there settled.
As G.B.Endacott explained, however, “the unspoken assumption was that Asians, and in particular the Chinese, were not forced to come to Hong Kong, and if they did so that was their own affair and they must accept conditions as they found them.” 14 Many colonial officials feared that providing too much social welfare would only attract more refugees from the mainland.
Twisted as this logic may seem, it echoed an old concern shared not just by colonial officials and Chinese elites but also by many ordinary Chinese, who often justified conditions in Hong Kong by contrasting them with those on the mainland.

政府在社会福利方面也继续严重依赖宗教和慈善组织,例如天主教玛利诺修女会. 历史学家辛迪·朱（Cindy Chu）写道,该修女会“带头帮助贫困的难民群体”；在安置区开设学校、诊所和青年中心；并且“走遍山坡上的木屋,照顾穷人”. 13 殖民政府没有为来自中国的难民提供更多帮助的原因之一是,他们认为一旦中国局势稳定下来,他们就会返回中国. 然而,正如 G.B.恩达科特（G.B.Endacott）所解释的那样,“人们心照不宣的假设是,亚洲人,特别是中国人,并非被迫来到香港,如果他们来了,那是他们自己的事,他们必须接受他们所遇到的情况.” 14 许多殖民官员担心,提供过多的社会福利只会吸引更多来自大陆的难民. 这种逻辑虽然看似扭曲,但它反映了一种由来已久的担忧,这种担忧不仅存在于殖民官员和中国精英阶层中,也存在于许多普通中国人中,他们经常将香港的状况与大陆的状况进行对比,以此来为香港的状况辩护.

On the political front 政治方面, the Hong Kong government had to learn (v.) how to coexist 共存；共处 with both the PRC and the Republic of China on Taiwan.

In October 1956, for example, 主 clashes 冲突；争执 between pro-Beijing and pro-Taipei supporters over a Nationalist flag that had been removed from a resettlement 重新安置；移民安置 block 谓 resulted in riots 暴乱；骚乱 in Kowloon, leading (v.) Nationalist sympathizers 同情者；支持者 to loot 抢劫；掠夺 stores owned by Communist supporters.

例如,1956年10月,亲北京与亲台北的支持者, 因一面从徙置区大楼取下的国民党旗帜, 发生冲突,引发九龙骚乱,导致亲国民党人士抢劫亲共产党人士所经营的店铺.

When pro-Nationalist mobs 暴民；一群闹事者 attacked and killed Communist sympathizers, the Hong Kong police responded by firing on 向.....开火 pro-Nationalist rioters.

By the end of two weeks, 59 people were dead, and 443 had been hospitalized 送医院治疗；住院.

Example 14. 案例

On the political front, the Hong Kong government had to learn how to coexist with both the PRC and the Republic of China on Taiwan.
In October 1956, for example, clashes between pro-Beijing and pro-Taipei supporters over a Nationalist flag that had been removed from a resettlement block resulted in riots in Kowloon, leading Nationalist sympathizers to loot stores owned by Communist supporters.
When pro-Nationalist mobs attacked and killed Communist sympathizers, the Hong Kong police responded by firing on pro-Nationalist rioters.
By the end of two weeks, 59 people were dead, and 443 had been hospitalized.

在政治方面,香港政府必须学会如何与中华人民共和国和台湾的中华民国共存. 例如,1956年10月,亲北京和亲台北的支持者因一面国民党旗帜被从一处安置楼移除而发生冲突,导致九龙发生骚乱,国民党同情者抢劫了共产党支持者的商店. 当亲国民党暴徒袭击并杀害共产党同情者时,香港警方开枪镇压了亲国民党暴徒. 两周后,59人死亡,443人住院治疗.

Hostilities 敌对行动；战争状态 between China and Taiwan often threatened to undermine (v.) Hong Kong’s stability.

The three governments frequently disagreed (v.) over fishing rights and territorial 领土的 waters.

三个政府在捕鱼权和领海问题上, 经常存在分歧.

Throughout 自始至终,贯穿整个时期 the early 1950s, the Nationalists 国民党人 conducted (v.) guerrilla 游击的 raids 突袭；袭击 on Communist-held 共产党控制的 coastal 近海的,沿海的 islands /and searched (v.) and harassed 骚扰；侵扰 foreign vessels, including British freighters 货轮.

The Hong Kong and British governments were concerned that 主 Nationalist blockades 封锁, mine-laying 布雷, and raids 突袭,袭击 near Hong Kong 谓 might convince 使确信；使信服 the PRC 中华人民共和国 that the British were involved in such activities, thus provoking the PRC into attacking Hong Kong.

In 1954, Communist Chinese fighter planes 战斗机 shot down a Cathay Pacific 国泰航空 airliner 国泰航空, killing eight people.

In April 1955, 主 the Kaslmtir Princess, an Indian airliner transporting 运送 PRC officials and foreign journalists 谓 exploded (v.) after taking off 起飞 for Jakarta from Kai Tak Airport.

1955年4月，一架载有中华人民共和国官员及外国记者的印度航空公司客机“克什米尔公主号”，从启德机场起飞前往雅加达后, 爆炸失事.

Blaming 把……归咎于 the explosion on Taiwan agents 特工,间谍, the PRC government demanded that the Hong Kong government capture (v.) the agents responsible.

In 1956 and 1958, Taiwanese fighter jets landed (v.) in Hong Kong after dogfights 空中格斗 with Chinese airplanes, causing (v.)使发生；造成；引起；导致 diplomatic rows 严重分歧；争吵 involving the governments of China, Taiwan, Britain, and Hong Kong.

Although none of these incidents had any long-term effects, they showed the precarious (a.)摇摇欲坠的，不稳固的;（局势）危险的；不稳定的 nature of Hong Kong’s new geopolitical 地缘政治的 status.

Example 15. 案例

Hostilities between China and Taiwan often threatened to undermine Hong Kong’s stability.
The three governments frequently disagreed over fishing rights and territorial waters.
Throughout the early 1950s, the Nationalists conducted guerrilla raids on Communist-held coastal islands and searched and harassed foreign vessels, including British freighters.
The Hong Kong and British governments were concerned that Nationalist blockades, mine-laying, and raids near Hong Kong might convince the PRC that the British were involved in such activities, thus provoking the PRC into attacking Hong Kong.
In 1954, Communist Chinese fighter planes shot down a Cathay Pacific airliner, killing eight people.
In April 1955, the Kaslmtir Princess, an Indian airliner transporting PRC officials and foreign journalists exploded after taking off for Jakarta from Kai Tak Airport.
Blaming the explosion on Taiwan agents, the PRC government demanded that the Hong Kong government capture the agents responsible.
In 1956 and 1958, Taiwanese fighter jets landed in Hong Kong after dogfights with Chinese airplanes, causing diplomatic rows involving the governments of China, Taiwan, Britain, and Hong Kong.
Although none of these incidents had any long-term effects, they showed the precarious nature of Hong Kong’s new geopolitical status.

中国大陆与台湾之间的敌对行动常常威胁到香港的稳定. 三方政府经常在渔业权和领海问题上存在分歧. 20 世纪 50 年代初期,国民党对共产党控制的沿海岛屿发动游击战,并搜查和骚扰外国船只,包括英国货轮. 香港和英国政府担心,国民党在香港附近的封锁、布雷和袭击可能会让中华人民共和国政府误以为英国参与了这些活动,从而激怒中华人民共和国政府攻击香港. 1954 年,中国共产党的战斗机击落了一架国泰航空的客机,造成 8 人死亡. 1955 年 4 月,载有中华人民共和国官员和外国记者的印度客机 “卡斯尔姆蒂尔公主号” 从启德机场起飞前往雅加达后发生爆炸. 中华人民共和国政府将爆炸事件归咎于台湾特工,并要求香港政府抓捕肇事者. 1956 年和 1958 年,台湾战机与中国战机发生空战后降落在香港,引发了涉及中国、台湾、英国和香港政府的外交争端. 尽管这些事件均未造成长期影响,但却暴露出香港新的地缘政治地位的脆弱性.

Culturally, 主 the closing of the border between Hong Kong and China 谓 created a sense of isolation for many Chinese in Hong Kong, which the colonial government was quick to exploit 利用；剥削；开发 through its education policies 政策；方针.

In 1952 the Hong Kong Education Department appointed a committee to investigate (v.) the place of Chinese history, language, and literature 文学；文献 in the Hong Kong school curriculum 课程.

In November 1953, the committee recommended (v.) an emphasis 强调；重点；重要性 on Chinese culture, against the emphasis on nationalism 民族主义；国家主义 and patriotism 爱国主义；爱国精神 in China and Taiwan.

This was not an attempt to return to some sort of cultural traditionalism 传统主义；墨守成规; rather, argues historian Bernard Luk, it was a scheme “for Chinese culture and British colonialism to survive together in the shadow of the Communist threat.”

Thus, after 1949 / “generations 一代；一辈 of Hong Kong Chinese pupils grew up, learning from the Chinese culture subjects to identify 确认；识别；认同 themselves as Chinese /but relating (v.) that Chineseness 中华性 to neither contemporary 当代的；现代的 China nor the local Hong Kong landscape.

因此，1949年之后，“一代又一代的香港华人学生在成长过程中，通过中国文化课程认同自己是中国人，但这种华人身份既不与当代中国相关联，也不与香港本地的社会环境相联系.

Example 16. 案例
结构：主句 + , doing..., (but) doing...

现在分词短语作"伴随状语",表示与谓语动作同时发生的伴随情况.

原句：

- ...pupils grew up, learning... but relating...

例句：

- He walked along the street, singing and smiling. 他沿街走着，一边唱歌一边微笑.
- She sat there, reading a book but thinking about something else. 她坐在那里看书，却想着别的事情.

It was a Chinese identity 身份；同一性；特性 in the abstract, a patriotism of the émigré 流亡者；移居国外者, probably held all the more 愈发、更加 absolutely 绝对地；完全地 because it was not connected to tangible 可触摸的，可感知的;有形的；切实的；真实的 reality.”

这是一种抽象意义上的中国身份认同，一种侨居者的爱国情怀，或许正因它与具象的现实毫无关联，才显得愈发纯粹坚定.

Example 17. 案例
all the more + 形容词 / 副词

意为"愈发、更加"，加强程度.

- She loves him all the more after the difficulty.（经历困难后，她愈发爱他.）

Although this curriculum 课程 helped nurture (v.)培养；养育；培育 a sense of Chinese heritage 遗产；传统；继承物 and identity, it also shaped a sense of Hong Kong being (n.)存在 at the periphery (n.)外围；边缘；次要部分 of both the Chinese and the Western worlds.

Example 18. 案例
我问: 这里 Hong Kong being at... 中为什么be用的是 being 的形式?

► DeepSeek:

这里的 being 是动名词 (Gerund)，而不是现在分词. 它和前面的 Hong Kong 一起构成了"动名词"的复合结构 (Gerund Phrase)，在句子中充当宾语.

句子的主干：
... it also shaped a sense of [Hong Kong being at the periphery...]

为什么用 being 而不是 is？ *因为 of 是一个介词，介词后面必须跟名词或相当于名词的成分（如代词、动名词）. *

- 错误写法：a sense of Hong Kong is at the periphery (介词后面不能直接跟句子!)
- 正确写法：a sense of Hong Kong being at the periphery (介词后面跟动名词短语) being 在这里的作用是把 “Hong Kong is at the periphery” 这个句子，变成了一个名词性的短语，从而能够跟在介词 of 后面.

Hong Kong 是 being 的逻辑主语（即“处于边缘”这个动作是由“香港”发出的）.
being 是动名词，表示“处于...状态”.
at the periphery 是 being 的表语，说明“处于”什么样的位置.

这种结构在中文里通常翻译为 “...的...” 结构.
直译：一种“香港处于边缘”的感觉.
意译：一种香港处于边缘的感觉.

► 豆包:

本句, 介词(of)后面 不能直接用：Hong Kong is...
因为 Hong Kong is... 是完整句子，介词不能带句子.

所以要把句子变成「名词结构」
把 is → being
Hong Kong is...（句子，不能放 of 后）
Hong Kong being...（名词性结构，动名词复合结构，可以放 of 后）

结构名称：
*名词 + being + 表语= 动名词的复合结构，当作名词使用. *

a sense of Hong Kong being at... = 一种 香港处于..... 的感觉
相当于：a sense that Hong Kong is at the periphery...

意思完全一样，只是语法结构不同： that 从句：同位语从句
being：动名词结构（更学术、更紧凑，历史 / 学术书最爱用）

最简单记忆口诀: 介词后面不能有句子，is 要变成 being

又例:

结构公式：介词 /of + 名词 + being + 形容词 / 介词短语

- I have a sense of China being a rising global power. 我有一种中国正在崛起为全球大国的感觉.
- She was aware of the problem being more serious than expected. 她意识到这个问题比预想的更严重.
- We can’t imagine life without technology being so advanced. 我们无法想象科技如此发达的生活.

Example 19. 案例

Culturally, the closing of the border between Hong Kong and China created a sense of isolation for many Chinese in Hong Kong, which the colonial government was quick to exploit through its education policies.
In 1952 the Hong Kong Education Department appointed a committee to investigate the place of Chinese history, language, and literature in the Hong Kong school curriculum.
In November 1953, the committee recommended an emphasis on Chinese culture, against the emphasis on nationalism and patriotism in China and Taiwan.

This was not an attempt to return to some sort of cultural traditionalism; rather, argues historian Bernard Luk, it was a scheme "for Chinese culture and British colonialism to survive together in the shadow of the Communist threat." Thus, after 1949 "generations of Hong Kong Chinese pupils grew up, learning from the Chinese culture subjects to identify themselves as Chinese but relating that Chineseness to neither contemporary China nor the local Hong Kong landscape.
It was a Chinese identity in the abstract, a patriotism of the émigré, probably held all the more absolutely because it was not connected to tangible reality." 15 Although this curriculum helped nurture a sense of Chinese heritage and identity, it also shaped a sense of Hong Kong being at the periphery of both the Chinese and the Western worlds.

在文化上,香港与中国大陆边界的关闭给许多香港华人带来了孤立感,殖民政府迅速利用这一点,通过其教育政策加以利用. 1952 年,香港教育署委任一个委员会,调查中国历史、语言和文学在香港学校课程中的地位. 1953 年 11 月,该委员会建议强调中国文化,以区别于中国大陆和台湾地区强调民族主义和爱国主义的做法. 这并非试图回归某种文化传统主义；历史学家陆伯纳认为,这是一种"让中国文化和英国殖民主义在共产主义威胁的阴影下共存"的策略. 因此,1949 年以后,"一代又一代的香港华裔学生在学习中国文化课程的过程中,认同自己是中国人,但这种中国身份既没有与当代中国联系起来,也没有与香港本土的现实联系起来. 这是一种抽象的中国身份认同,一种移民的爱国主义,或许正是因为它脱离了具体的现实,才显得更加绝对. " 15 虽然这门课程有助于培养中国传统和身份认同感,但也使人觉得香港处于中国和西方世界的边缘.