On December 8, 1941, Hong Kong time, Japanese bombers attacked Hong Kong, Malaya, Pearl Harbor, and the Philippines.

结合上下文，这句话的意思是： 就在12月8日当天（同样多的几分钟内），九龙启德机场的五架英国皇家空军飞机就被摧毁了。

Example 3. 案例

On December 8, 1941, Hong Kong time, Japanese bombers attacked Hong Kong, Malaya, Pearl Harbor, and the Philippines.

By February 1942, after the fall of Malaya and Singapore, the sun had set over Britain’s empire in East Asia.

1941年12月8日（香港时间），日军轰炸机袭击了香港、马来亚、珍珠港和菲律宾。短短几分钟内，九龙启德机场的五架英国皇家空军飞机便被摧毁。随着日军迅速推进至新界并进入九龙，印有“亚洲人的亚洲”字样的宣传单号呼吁殖民地内的华人和印度人奋起反抗，驱逐英国剥削者。短短十七天内，日军占领了香港岛，并一直占领整个殖民地直至1945年8月30日。圣诞节当天，也就是日军对香港岛发动三路进攻一周后，于9月从巴巴多斯抵达香港的总督杨明向酒井隆中将无条件投降。到1942年2月，随着马来亚和新加坡的陷落，英国在东亚的帝国也走向了终结。

Why did the British resistance fall apart 破碎，崩溃,失败 so quickly? A better question might be, given the overwhelming 势不可挡的；巨大的 strength of the Japanese forces, why did Hong Kong not fall (v.) even earlier?

Although critics 批评者；评论家 later complained 报怨 that /the British should have put up a stiffer 更强硬的；更顽强的 resistance, 主 both regular troops and volunteers 谓 followed Churchill’s orders to fight to the end.

英国的抵抗为何瓦解得如此迅速？考虑到日军的绝对优势，一个更恰当的问题或许是，香港为何没有更早沦陷？尽管后来有批评者抱怨英国人本应进行更顽强的抵抗，但正规军和志愿者,都遵照丘吉尔的命令战斗到了最后一刻。

Example 4. 案例

我问: 这里 the British should have put up a stiffer resistance 为什么用的是 should have put up 而不是 should put up？

► DeepSeek:

这里使用 should have put up（虚拟语气）而不是 should put up（一般现在时），是因为这句话是在回顾历史、进行事后评论，表达一种“本应做但实际没做”的遗憾或批评。

如果这里用 should put up，意思就变成了“英军现在应该进行更顽强的抵抗”，这显然不符合历史事实（因为战斗早已结束）。

“Should have done” 是英语中一个非常高频且重要的语法结构，它属于"虚拟语气"的一种，专门用来表达"对过去发生的事情的评价、建议、批评或遗憾"。

核心含义：本应做，但实际没做

这个结构最核心的意思是：说话人认为在过去某个时间点，某人“本应该”做某事，但事实上这件事并没有发生。

所以, should + have + 过去分词 (done)：是在假设过去（Hypothetical Past）。它描述的是一个与过去事实相反的假设情况。

例:

Header 1	Header 2
• You should have finished your homework yesterday. (你昨天本应该完成作业的。)	批评与责备 (Criticism & Blame). 这是最常见的用法，表示对过去未做某事的不满或指责。
• I should have studied harder for the exam. (我本应该为考试更努力学习的。)	遗憾与后悔 (Regret) 表达说话人对自己或他人过去行为的后悔，认为当时有更好的选择。
• He should have taken the train; it would have been faster. (他本应该坐火车的，那样会更快。)	建议与推断 (Suggestion & Deduction) 表示对过去情况的推测，或者给出一个“事后诸葛亮”式的建议。

对比:

结构	时间指向	含义	例句
Should do	现在/将来	表示现在或将来应该做的事（建议、义务）。	You should go to bed early. (你应该早点睡觉。)
Should have done	过去	表示过去本应该做,但没做的事（遗憾、批评）。	You should have gone to bed early. (你昨晚本应该早点睡的。)

我又问: 那么假如某人是"在 昨天后悔前天的事", 即并非"在今天后悔昨天", 也是用 Should have done 而不是用 Should had done 么?

是的，完全正确。无论你是在“今天后悔昨天”，还是在“昨天后悔前天”，只要是站在某个时间点去后悔更早之前发生的事，都必须使用 should have done，绝对不能用 should had done。

为什么不能用 “should had done” ？因为情态动词（can, could, may, might, must, shall, should, will, would）后面, 必须接"动词原形"。 用 should had done 就是个语法错误.

所以, 无论你站在哪个“现在”去回望，只要那个动作发生在你回望的时间点之前，就必须用 have done。

例:

Header 1	Header 2
今天后悔昨天	时间：今天是3月12日，后悔3月11日没学习。 句子：I should have studied yesterday.（站在3月12日，后悔3月11日的事。）
昨天后悔前天	昨天（3月11日）后悔前天（3月10日）没学习。 句子：I thought I should have studied the day before.（站在3月11日，后悔3月10日的事。虽然主句动词 thought是过去式，但从句依然保持 should have studied不变。）

When Governor Young finally surrendered, he did so after rejecting 拒绝；驳回 three earlier offers 主动提议 of surrender 投降提议 /and partly to prevent the Japanese invaders 侵略者 from committing (v.) the kind of atrocities 暴行；残忍行为 they had inflicted 使遭受；强加 on the city of Nanjing in 1938.

扬总督最终投降时，他是在拒绝了先前三次投降提议之后才这样做的，部分原因是为了阻止日本侵略者犯下他们1938年在南京城所实施的那种暴行。

英国的抵抗为何如此迅速地瓦解？或许更恰当的问题应该是，鉴于日军的绝对优势，香港为何没有更早陷落？尽管后来有批评人士抱怨英国本应进行更顽强的抵抗，但正规军和志愿军都遵照丘吉尔的命令战斗到了最后一刻。杨总督最终投降之前，曾三次拒绝投降提议，部分原因是为了阻止日军侵略者重蹈 1938 年南京大屠杀的覆辙。在入侵前夕，由克里斯托弗·马尔特比少将指挥的香港方面拥有约一万人的兵力——包括两个英国营、香港志愿军、两个印度步兵营和加拿大政府提供的两个步兵营——以及少量飞机和舰船，而且没有任何海上增援的希望。 12 月 20 日，英国军方谎称约有六万中国军队正在赶来，这或许提振了士气，但却无法改变日军在海陆空三方面都占据绝对优势的事实。日军拥有两万多兵力，以及更多更先进的飞机和舰船，而且随时可以从中国境内获得增援。当蒋介石的三个师抵达广州准备进攻日军时，香港已经沦陷。正如托尼·班纳姆（Tony Banham）近期出版的关于这场入侵的著作标题所示，香港“毫无胜算”。

Whereas（表示对比）但是，然而；鉴于 the British commanders were almost all new to Hong Kong (Maltby 人名 had arrived only in August) and the two battalions 营；大队 of Canadian infantry 步兵；步兵部队 were still being trained, the Japanese had several years of experience fighting in China, and many of their troops had been training together for the assault 攻击；袭击；突袭 on Hong Kong.

1941年末，英国的防御计划发生了改变，从仅防御香港岛, 转变为在醉酒湾防线牵制日军——这是一系列碉堡群，从香港西部的醉酒湾, 延伸至东部的牛尾海，全长11英里——然后撤退至香港岛进行防御。

Example 7. 案例

我问: 这里defending ,holding ,retreating 为什么都是用的 ing形式?

► DeepSeek:

因为它们在这里是动名词（Gerunds）.

这句话的核心结构是： British defense plans changed from A to B.
from A to B：这是一个介词短语，表示“从A（状态/计划）改变为B（状态/计划）”。

A 和 B 都是介词（from, to）的宾语，在英语中，介词后面必须接名词性成分（名词、代词或动名词）。

因为动词原形（defend, hold, retreat）不能直接放在介词后面，必须将其名词化。动名词（-ing 形式）恰好具备动词的含义（表示动作）和名词的功能（可以作宾语）。

- from defending only Hong Kong Island：介词 from 的宾语是 defending。
- to holding down the Japanese... and then retreating to defend...：介词 to 的宾语是 holding... and retreating（两个并列的"动名词"短语）。

This did not leave (v.) enough time for effective planning (介词后用动名词) and training.

The British also failed to use (v.) the local Chinese effectively; 主 the some 450 who volunteered 自愿；主动提供 谓 were used (v.) primarily in service positions.

The British, who moved (v.) mainly by road, were hamstrung (v.)残废；使陷入困境；束缚；使无能为力 when their military transport system fell apart 破碎，崩溃.

Example 8. 案例

hamstring

[VN] [often passive] to prevent sb/sth from working or taking action in the way that is needed 妨碍；使不能正常工作（或行动）

→ ham,膝弯，string,弦。引申词义肌腱。

Helped by spies 间谍 along the way 沿路, the fit (a.)健康的，健壮的, organized, and well-equipped Japanese moved quickly by foot, often at night.

Example 9. 案例

Whereas the British commanders were almost all new to Hong Kong (Maltby had arrived only in August) and the two battalions of Canadian infantry were still being trained, the Japanese had several years of experience fighting in China, and many of their troops had been training together for the assault on Hong Kong.

British defense plans changed late in 1941 from defending only Hong Kong Island to holding down the Japanese at the Gin Drinkers' Line—a series of pillboxes running eleven miles from Gin Drinkers' Bay in western Hong Kong to Port Shelter in the eastern region—and then retreating to defend Hong Kong Island.
This did not leave enough time for effective planning and training.
The British also failed to use the local Chinese effectively; the some 450 who volunteered were used primarily in service positions.
The British, who moved mainly by road, were hamstrung when their military transport system fell apart.
Helped by spies along the way, the fit, organized, and well-equipped Japanese moved quickly by foot, often at night.

尽管英军指挥官几乎都是初来乍到（马尔特比八月才抵达香港），两个加拿大步兵营也仍在接受训练，但日军却在中国战场上拥有数年的作战经验，而且许多部队都曾为进攻香港进行过联合训练。1941年末，英军的防御计划发生了改变，从仅守卫香港岛转变为在“饮酒者防线”（一条从香港西部的饮酒者湾延伸至东部避风港的碉堡群，全长11英里）阻击日军，然后撤退至香港岛进行防御。这样的改变使得英军没有足够的时间进行有效的计划和训练。此外，英军也未能有效地利用当地华人；约450名志愿兵主要被安排在后勤岗位。英军主要依靠陆路推进，但其军事运输系统崩溃后，行动举步维艰。在沿途间谍的帮助下，体格健壮、组织严密、装备精良的日军迅速徒步推进，而且经常在夜间行动。

The British had weak (a.), outdated 过时的，陈旧的, and insufficient artillery 火炮；大炮 and ammunition 弹药；军火.

Large numbers of Japanese merchants had been in Hong Kong since the 1930s, and almost one hundred Japanese remained in Hong Kong in late 1941.
