003-02 THE REFORM MOVEMENT OF 1894 /1894年的改革运动

Table of Contents

1. THE REFORM MOVEMENT OF 1894 /1894年的改革运动

---

1. THE REFORM MOVEMENT OF 1894 /1894年的改革运动

By the end of the nineteenth century, Hong Kong was the only British colony with such a limited form of self-government.

Although the Chinese community rarely questioned (v.) this system, many Europeans believed that they deserved 应得；应受 a larger role in running the colony they had helped build.

In 1894, the Constitutional Reform Association 宪法改革协会 petitioned (v.)请愿；请求 for the right to elect (v.) British nationals 国民；公民 as unofficial members in the Legislative Council 立法局 and for more control over the colony’s finances.

The British government, however, rejected (v.) this as a poorly disguised 伪装的；掩饰的 attempt to gain power for Europeans.

Secretary for the Colonies 殖民地大臣 Lord Ripon, formerly 以前，原来 the viceroy 总督 of India, argued that because Hong Kong had “become a Chinese rather than a British community” and Chinese settlement 定居；聚居地 formed the “one main element in its prosperity 繁荣；兴旺,” he could not sanction (v.)认可；批准 any representation 代表权；代表制度 that would exclude 排除；不包括 the Chinese.

殖民地大臣里彭勋爵（曾任印度总督）辩称，由于香港“已成为一个华人社区而非英国社区”，且华人定居点是其“繁荣的一个主要因素”，他无法批准任何将华人排除在外的代表制度。

Example 1. 案例
viceroy

(often used as a title常用作头衔) a person who is sent by a king or queen to govern a colony（君主委派管治殖民地的）总督

→ vice,代理，-roy,皇室，国王，词源同 royal.即代理国王管理海外殖民地的官员，总督。

The Colonial Office also feared that giving in to 屈服于 any European demands would encourage the Chinese to make similar requests.

Although he raised 提出 the possibility of appointing 任命；委派 a Chinese to the Executive Council 行政局, Lord Ripon warned that granting 给予；授予 representation to Europeans would mean giving more representation to the Chinese.

Example 2. 案例

By the end of the nineteenth century, Hong Kong was the only British colony with such a limited form of self-government.
Although the Chinese community rarely questioned this system, many Europeans believed that they deserved a larger role in running the colony they had helped build.
In 1894, the Constitutional Reform Association petitioned for the right to elect British nationals as unofficial members in the Legislative Council and for more control over the colony’s finances.
The British government, however, rejected this as a poorly disguised attempt to gain power for Europeans.
Secretary for the Colonies Lord Ripon, formerly the viceroy of India, argued that because Hong Kong had “become a Chinese rather than a British community” and Chinese settlement formed the “one main element in its prosperity,” he could not sanction any representation that would exclude the Chinese.3 The Colonial Office also feared that giving in to any European demands would encourage the Chinese to make similar requests.
Although he raised the possibility of appointing a Chinese to the Executive Council, Lord Ripon warned that granting representation to Europeans would mean giving more representation to the Chinese. 到十九世纪末, 香港是唯一一个自治权如此有限的英国殖民地。尽管华人社群很少质疑这一制度, 但许多欧洲人认为, 他们理应在自己参与建设的殖民地管理中扮演更重要的角色。1894 年, 宪政改革协会请愿, 要求选举英国国民作为非官方成员进入立法会, 并要求对殖民地财政拥有更大的控制权。然而, 英国政府驳回了这一请愿, 认为这是欧洲人企图攫取权力的拙劣伎俩。曾任印度总督的殖民地事务大臣里彭勋爵辩称, 由于香港“已成为华人而非英国人聚居地”, 华人定居是“香港繁荣的主要因素”, 因此他不能批准任何排除华人参与的代表权。殖民地事务部也担心, 如果对任何欧洲人的要求做出让步, 都会鼓励华人提出类似的要求。尽管里彭勋爵提出了任命一名中国人进入行政委员会的可能性, 但他警告说, 给予欧洲人代表权就意味着给予中国人更多的代表权。

Ironically, the 1894 petition 请愿书 for constitutional 宪法的 reform ended up 最终；结果是 benefiting the Chinese community more than the European community.

The Legislative Council 立法议会 was increased by one official and one unofficial member, but the latter 后者 was Wei Yuk, a comprador 买办 and entrepreneur 企业家；创业者 appointed in 1896.

In May 1896, Lord Ripon’s successor 继任者；接替者, Joseph Chamberlain, ordered (v.) that two unofficial members be added to the Executive Council.

They were to be selected “at the discretion 自行决定权 of the Governor” from the unofficial members of the Legislative Council /and “by consideration 考虑；斟酌 of personal merit 优点；长处；功绩” and with “no reference to the particular class or race.”

他们将由总督“酌情”从立法局非官方成员中选出，选拔依据是“个人功绩”，且“不涉及特定阶层或种族”。

Example 3. 案例
discretion

→ dis-, 分开，散开。-creet, 区分，词源同crisis, critic, discern. 即区分好坏善恶的，慎重的。

dis·cre·tion n. /dɪˈskreʃn/

[U]

1. the freedom or power to decide what should be done in a particular situation自行决定的自由；自行决定权
   - I'll leave it up to you to use your discretion.我把这件事留给你自己斟酌决定。
   - How much to tell terminally ill patients is left to the discretion of the doctor.晚期病人的病情让本人知道多少由医生自行决定。
2. care in what you say or do, in order to keep sth secret or to avoid causing embarrassment to or difficulty for sb; the quality of being discreet谨慎；慎重；审慎
   - This is confidential, but I know that I can rely on your discretion.这是机密，不过我知道你靠得住。

   ——compare indiscretion
   ——note at care

IDIOMS 习语

1. AT SB'S DIˈSCRETION

   according to what sb decides or wishes to do 由某人斟酌决定；按照某人的意见
   - Bail is granted at the discretion of the court.由法庭决定准予保释。
   - There is no service charge and tipping is at your discretion.不收服务费，给不给小费由你自行决定。
2. DI¸SCRETION IS THE ¸BETTER PART OF ˈVALOUR

   (saying) you should avoid danger and not take unnecessary risks 谨慎即大勇；慎重为勇敢之本

A Chinese was not appointed to the Executive Council until 1926, but given 考虑到 how 主 the 1894 movement for reform 谓 inadvertently 无意地；不经意地 benefited the Chinese community, the European community did not seriously mention (v.) constitutional reform again until after World War I.

Example 4. 案例

Ironically, the 1894 petition for constitutional reform ended up benefiting the Chinese community more than the European community.
The Legislative Council was increased by one official and one unofficial member, but the latter was Wei Yuk, a comprador and entrepreneur appointed in 1896.
In May 1896, Lord Ripon’s successor, Joseph Chamberlain, ordered that two unofficial members be added to the Executive Council.
They were to be selected “at the discretion of the Governor” from the unofficial members of the Legislative Council and “by consideration of personal merit” and with “no reference to the particular class or race.” 4 A Chinese was not appointed to the Executive Council until 1926, but given how the 1894 movement for reform inadvertently benefited the Chinese community, the European community did not seriously mention constitutional reform again until after World War I. 具有讽刺意味的是, 1894 年的宪政改革请愿最终使华人社区比欧洲社区受益更多。立法委员会增加了一名官方成员和一名非官方成员, 但后者是魏玉, 一位买办和企业家, 于 1896 年被任命。1896 年 5 月, 里彭勋爵的继任者约瑟夫·张伯伦下令在行政委员会中增加两名非官方成员。这两名成员将“由总督酌情决定”从立法委员会的非官方成员中选出, “以个人功绩为准”, 且“不考虑特定阶级或种族”。直到 1926 年, 才有一位华人被任命为行政委员会成员。但鉴于 1894 年的改革运动无意中使华人社区受益, 欧洲社区直到第一次世界大战后才再次认真讨论宪政改革。