In June 1898, according to the Convention of Peking and "for the proper defence and protection of the Colony," Britain leased the predominantly rural area between Kowloon and the Shenzhen River from China for ninety-nine years.
Around 365 square miles—approximately ten times the size of Hong Kong and Kowloon combined—these New Territories also included some 230 outlying islands, one of them (Lantau) considerably larger than Hong Kong Island.
More than eighty thousand people lived in the region. 1898年6月, 根据《北京条约》, 为了"妥善保卫殖民地", 英国从中国租借了九龙至深圳河之间以乡村为主的地区, 租期99年。这片新界面积约365平方英里, 大约是香港和九龙总面积的十倍, 还包括约230个离岛, 其中一个（大屿山）的面积远大于香港岛。当时, 该地区居住着超过8万人。

Colonial officials and British merchants in Hong Kong had advanced 提出；推进 various arguments 论据，理由 for taking the New Territories throughout 自始至终，贯穿整个时期 the second half of the nineteenth century.

The area would be a buffer zone 缓冲地带 with China and would provide land for real estate 房地产 and for housing (v.) and training troops.

The British government had resisted such calls.

Even though proponents 支持者；倡导者 of expansion continued to harbor (v.)心怀；怀有; 庇护；窝藏 designs 图谋；打算 of making China into another India, the government had decided by the 1860s against more territorial expansion in China.

Most British leaders were convinced (a.)确信的，信服的 that the "China hands" 中国通 had exaggerated 夸大；夸张 China's economic potential (by the late 1800s, less than 2 percent of Britain's exports 出口商品 were to China) or that this potential did not warrant (v.)使有必要，值得；需要 territorial control /because goods such as silk and tea could be obtained easily enough without territorial control (more than half of China's foreign trade was already with Britain).

大多数英国领导人认为，"中国通"夸大了中国的经济潜力（到19世纪末，英国对中国的出口不到其出口总额的2%），或者认为这种潜力并不值得英国进行领土控制，因为无需领土控制，英国也能轻松获得丝绸和茶叶等商品（当时中国一半以上的对外贸易, 已是与英国进行）。

Making China into another India could overstretch 过度延伸；使……不堪重负 British imperial power, and further expansion might lead to China's being carved 雕刻,切下 up 瓜分 like Africa, which would only hurt free trade.

Territorial expansion in China risked (v.) provoking 挑衅；激起 other European powers into doing the same —perhaps even into war —and drawing resistance from the United States, which was actively involved in trade and missionary work 传教工作 in China.

Example 3. 案例

Colonial officials and British merchants in Hong Kong had advanced various arguments for taking the New Territories throughout the second half of the nineteenth century.
The area would be a buffer zone with China and would provide land for real estate and for housing and training troops.

The British government had resisted such calls.
Even though proponents of expansion continued to harbor designs of making China into another India, the government had decided by the 1860s against more territorial expansion in China.
Most British leaders were convinced that the "China hands" had exaggerated China's economic potential (by the late 1800s, less than 2 percent of Britain's exports were to China) or that this potential did not warrant territorial control because goods such as silk and tea could be obtained easily enough without territorial control (more than half of China's foreign trade was already with Britain).
Making China into another India could overstretch British imperial power, and further expansion might lead to China's being carved up like Africa, which would only hurt free trade.
Territorial expansion in China risked provoking other European powers into doing the same—perhaps even into war—and drawing resistance from the United States, which was actively involved in trade and missionary work in China. 在十九世纪下半叶, 香港的殖民官员和英国商人提出了各种吞并新界的理由。他们认为, 新界可以作为与中国接壤的缓冲区, 并提供土地用于房地产开发、驻扎和训练军队。英国政府一直抵制这些呼吁。尽管扩张的支持者仍然怀揣着将中国变成另一个印度的野心, 但到了19世纪60年代, 英国政府已经决定不再在中国进行领土扩张。大多数英国领导人认为, "中国通"夸大了中国的经济潜力（到19世纪末, 英国对中国的出口额不到2%）, 或者认为这种潜力不足以支撑领土控制, 因为丝绸和茶叶等商品即使不控制领土也能轻易获得（中国超过一半的对外贸易已经与英国进行）。将中国变成另一个印度可能会使英国的帝国权力过度扩张, 而进一步的扩张可能会导致中国像非洲一样被瓜分, 这只会损害自由贸易。在中国的领土扩张可能会激起其他欧洲列强效仿, 甚至可能引发战争, 并招致美国的抵制, 因为美国当时正积极参与在中国的贸易和传教活动。

The change in British policy toward the New Territories in the late 1890s reflected (v.) growing concerns about the defense of Hong Kong, not so much from China but from the other powers that were now challenging Britain's supremacy 霸权；至高无上；优势 in China.

19世纪90年代末，英国对新界政策的转变, 反映出其对香港防务日益增长的担忧，这种担忧并非主要来自中国，而是来自当时正挑战英国在华霸权的其他列强。

Russia, having expanded rapidly westward in the second part of the nineteenth century, had a stretch of coastal 近海的，沿海的 territory in northeastern China.

France, which enjoyed considerable 相当大的；相当多的 influence in southern China after its victory in the Sino-French War (1884–1885), had signed an alliance 联盟；同盟 with Russia in 1893.

Although relations with the United States were generally good, the U.S. Navy used Mirs Bay —less than twenty miles northeast of Hong Kong —to conduct (v.) its operations in the Philippines during the Spanish-American War.

(Mirs Bay was included in the lease 租约；租赁协议 of the New Territories, as 正如 was Deep Bay, northwest of Hong Kong.)

大鹏湾与香港西北部的后海湾一同被纳入新界的租借范围。

Example 4. 案例
Mirs Bay

我问: 既然 Mirs Bay 已经被租给英国了, 怎么美国还能使用 Mirs Bay？

美西战争爆发于1898年4月，而《展拓香港界址专条》是在1898年6月9日才正式签订。

美国海军在战争期间（尤其是关键的1898年5-8月）使用大鹏湾，很可能发生在英国已获得条约授权，但尚未完全建立实际控制的窗口期. 或者更可能的是，英国基于外交考量明确允许美国使用。

The change in British policy toward the New Territories in the late 1890s reflected growing concerns about the defense of Hong Kong, not so much from China but from the other powers that were now challenging Britain’s supremacy in China.
Russia, having expanded rapidly westward in the second part of the nineteenth century, had a stretch of coastal territory in northeastern China.
Despite earlier reservations about the value of empire, Germany had also become a colonial power and longed for a port along the Chinese coast.
France, which enjoyed considerable influence in southern China after its victory in the Sino-French War (1884–1885), had signed an alliance with Russia in 1893.

Navy used Mirs Bay—less than twenty miles northeast of Hong Kong—to conduct its operations in the Philippines during the Spanish-American War.
(Mirs Bay was included in the lease of the New Territories, as was Deep Bay, northwest of Hong Kong.) 19世纪90年代末英国对新界政策的转变, 反映出其对香港防务日益增长的担忧, 这种担忧并非主要来自中国, 而是来自其他挑战英国在华霸权的列强。俄国在19世纪下半叶迅速西扩张, 在中国东北拥有一片沿海领土。尽管此前对帝国价值有所保留, 德国也已成为殖民强国, 并渴望在中国沿海获得一个港口。法国在中法战争（1884-1885）胜利后, 在中国南方拥有相当大的影响力, 并于1893年与俄国结盟。尽管与美国的关系总体良好, 但在美西战争期间, 美国海军利用位于香港东北不到20英里的米尔斯湾在菲律宾开展军事行动。（米尔斯湾和香港西北部的深湾都包含在租借新界的范围内。）

Even more important for the change in British policy was the rise of a new Asian power. This was Japan, which emerged 表 victorious (a.获胜的；胜利的) 以胜利者的姿态出现 from the Sino-Japanese War of 1894–1895.

Example 6. 案例

这里的 victorious 是表语，与系动词 emerged 一起构成系表结构。
emerged (这里是系动词，意为“出现、显现为某种状态”，而不是“浮现、出现”的不及物动词)

当 emerge 作系动词时，表示“显现为某种状态、身份或结果”，后面接形容词作表语，描述主语显现出的状态或性质。类似的系动词还有 become, seem, appear, prove等。

emerge 后面接形容词时，并不是说“出现”这个动作很快或很慢（状语），而是说当主语出现时，它本身处于什么状态 (即描述的是人, 而不是动作)。

例如：He emerged unhurt from the accident. (他事故后安然无恙。)

句中 emerge victorious 是一个固定搭配，强调“最终以胜利者的姿态/身份出现”

又例:

- He died happy (a.). (形容词 $\rightarrow$ 表语)意思：他死的时候是幸福的状态。
  → 比较: He died happily. (副词 $\rightarrow$ 状语)意思：他死得很开心（描述死的过程或方式）。
- The prisoners sat silent (a.). (囚犯坐着，处于沉默状态。不是描述“坐”的动作，而是描述人的状态。) (即描述的是人 prisoners, 而不是描述动作 sat)

The Treaty of Shimonoseki (下关港市)马关条约 showed how much Japan had learned from the Western imperialists 帝国主义者。

Even more important for the change in British policy was the rise of a new Asian power. This was Japan, which emerged victorious from the Sino-Japanese War of 1894–1895. The Treaty of Shimonoseki showed how much Japan had learned from the Western imperialists.
Apart from awarding Japan an indemnity, opening four Chinese ports, and granting Japanese citizens the right to trade and manufacture in China, the treaty gave Japan control of the Liaodong Peninsula in northeastern China (although Germany, France, and Russia forced Japan to return it in exchange for higher reparations), the Pescadores (Penghu) Islands, and the island of Taiwan. 对英国政策转变而言, 更为重要的是一个新兴亚洲强国的崛起。这个强国就是日本, 它在1894-1895年的甲午战争中取得了胜利。《马关条约》表明日本从西方帝国主义那里学到了多少东西。除了向日本支付赔款、开放四个中国港口、赋予日本公民在中国进行贸易和生产的权利外, 该条约还使日本获得了中国东北部的辽东半岛（尽管德国、法国和俄罗斯迫使日本以更高的赔款为条件归还了辽东半岛）、澎湖列岛和台湾岛的控制权。

Apart from showing Japan’s new power, the Sino-Japanese War led to the Scramble (n.) 争夺；抢占 for Concessions 让步，让与;（在外国的）特许权；租界 from 1897 to 1899.

Although Britain and the United States urged the other powers 列强 to maintain an open door 门户开放政策 and not take more territory in China, in late 1897 Germany occupied Jiaozhou, on the southern part of the Shandong Peninsula in northeastern China, after two German missionaries 传教士 were killed there.

The following year, the Germans leased 租借；出租 Jiaozhou for ninety-nine years.

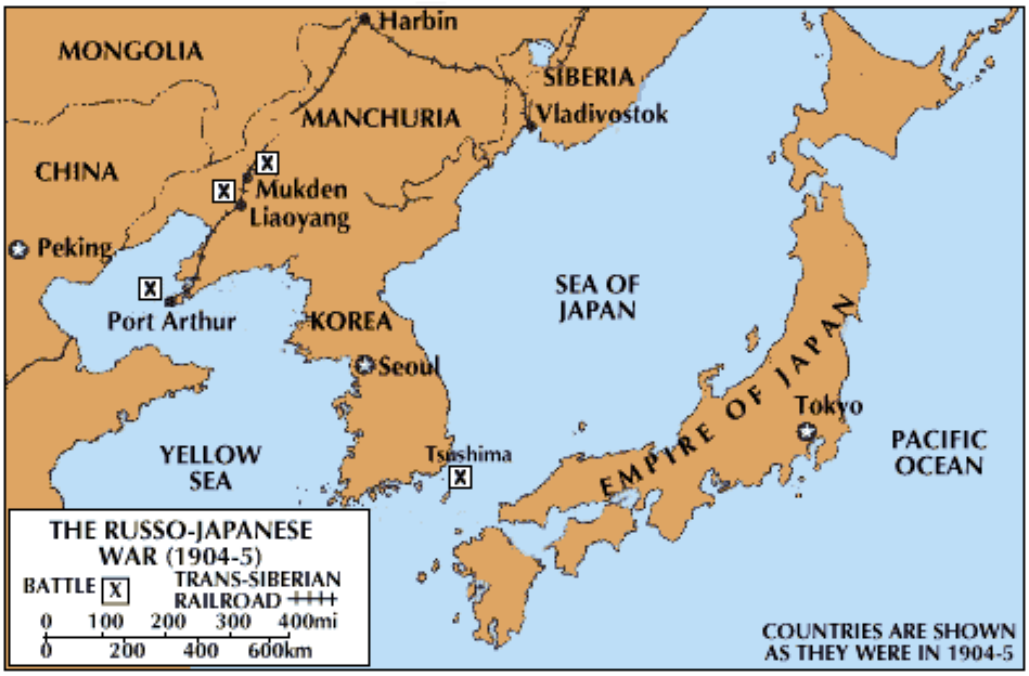
In December 1897, Russia occupied Port Arthur (亚瑟)旅顺口 and Dalian on the Liaodong Peninsula; the following spring Russia leased the two ports for twenty-five years.

Example 10. 案例

旅顺港 的英文名为什么叫 Port Arthur (亚瑟港) ?

“Port Arthur”这个名字，来自一位英国海军军官——William C. Arthur。1860年，第二次鸦片战争期间，英法联军北上攻打大沽口、进逼北京。英国舰队在辽东半岛南端的这个天然深水港停靠时，舰队里的一艘测量船由 Arthur担任副手。按照当时西方海军的惯例，新绘制或重新测定的港口常以军官名字命名，于是这处港湾被标在海图上为“Port Arthur”。

20世纪中叶以后，中国重新行使主权，中文“旅顺”成为正式名称，而“Port Arthur”则更多存在于历史文献里。



Eager (a.)渴望的；热切的 not to be left out 被排除在外；被忽略 of the scramble, Britain leased (v.) the port of Weihaiwei on the northern part of the Shandong Peninsula.

Apart from showing Japan’s new power, the Sino-Japanese War led to the Scramble for Concessions from 1897 to 1899.
Although Britain and the United States urged the other powers to maintain an open door and not take more territory in China, in late 1897 Germany occupied Jiaozhou, on the southern part of the Shandong Peninsula in northeastern China, after two German missionaries were killed there.

The following year, the Germans leased Jiaozhou for ninety-nine years.
In December 1897, Russia occupied Port Arthur and Dalian on the Liaodong Peninsula; the following spring Russia leased the two ports for twenty-five years.
Eager not to be left out of the scramble, Britain leased the port of Weihaiwei on the northern part of the Shandong Peninsula.
When the French leased Guangzhouwan, near Hainan Island and only two hundred miles from Hong Kong, for ninety-nine years, the British made their move on the New Territories. 除了展现日本的新兴实力外, 甲午战争还引发了1897年至1899年的瓜分租界大战。尽管英国和美国敦促列强保持门户开放, 不要在中国扩张领土, 但在1897年末, 两名德国传教士在胶州遇害后, 德国占领了位于中国东北山东半岛南部的胶州。次年, 德国租借胶州99年。1897年12月, 俄国占领了辽东半岛的旅顺和大连；次年春天, 俄国租借了这两个港口25年。英国也不甘落后, 租借了位于山东半岛北部的威海卫港。当法国租借了位于海南岛附近、距香港仅200英里的广州湾99年后, 英国开始在新界扩张势力。

Britain thus got what it had demanded, free of charge 免费；无偿地 and without harming relations with China or the other powers.

Example 13. 案例

Compared with the earlier treaties between Britain and China, the negotiations for the Convention of Peking were remarkably smooth.
Although the British hoped for a permanent cession, their chief negotiator and minister in Beijing, Claude MacDonald, assumed that a ninety-nine-year lease would in fact be permanent.
The Qing government had been reluctant to lease the region but, like the British government, hoped that conceding a relatively small area so quickly and without fanfare would prevent the other powers from using the British acquisition of the region as a pretext for demanding more concessions.
Led by the seasoned statesman and reformer Li Hongzhang, the Qing negotiators had at one point demanded that the British pay rent for leasing the area, but they soon decided against this because it might prove the increasingly loud charges by Chinese nationalists that the Manchus and their Chinese helpers were literally selling out the country.
Britain thus got what it had demanded, free of charge and without harming relations with China or the other powers. 与以往英中条约相比，《北京条约》的谈判异常顺利。尽管英国希望永久割让这片土地，但其首席谈判代表兼驻北京公使克劳德·麦克唐纳却认为九十九年的租约实际上就是永久租约。清政府原本不愿租借这片土地，但与英国政府一样，希望如此迅速且低调地割让相对较小的区域，能够防止列强以此为借口，要求更多让步。在经验丰富的政治家和改革家李鸿章的带领下，清方谈判代表一度要求英国支付租约租金，但他们很快放弃了这一要求，因为这可能会印证中国民族主义者日益高涨的指责——满清及其中国盟友实际上是在出卖国家。就这样，英国如愿以偿，既没有付出任何代价，也没有损害与中国或其他列强的关系。

Unlike when the British took control of Hong Kong Island and Kowloon, the occupation of the rural New Territories provoked 激起；引发；挑衅 widespread (a.) resistance from both sides of the new border, perhaps encouraged by Guangdong authorities.

Villagers promptly 迅速地；立即地 burned down temporary 临时的；暂时的 structures 结构；建筑物 erected 建造；竖立 by the new colonial administration 管理；行政部门；政府.

In October 1898, the residents of Kam Tin, a village in the northwest, raised a fund 筹集资金 to resist the British if they tried to interfere with traditional practices of land ownership.

1898年10月，西北部村庄锦田的居民筹集资金，若英国人试图干涉传统的土地所有权习俗，他们便会进行反抗。

In the spring of 1899, placards 标语牌；海报 called on 号召；呼吁 villagers to resist the invaders.

British forces proceeded to arrest resistance leaders, confiscate weapons, and destroy the gates to village walls. 与英国占领香港岛和九龙时不同, 新界农村地区的占领引发了新边界两侧村民的广泛抵抗, 这或许是受到广东当局的煽动。村民们迅速烧毁了新殖民政府搭建的临时建筑。1898年10月, 西北部锦田村的村民筹集资金, 以防英国人干涉传统的土地所有权制度。英军炮击村墙后, 村里的长老们将城门献上, 以示臣服。（总督亨利·布莱克迅速将城门送回他在爱尔兰的家中, 这些城门一直留在那里, 直到1925年。）1899年春天, 村民们张贴标语, 号召他们抵抗侵略者。尽管英国人没有预料到如此热烈且组织严密的抵抗, 但他们轻而易举地镇压了该地区数千名起义的村民。英军随后逮捕了抵抗领袖, 没收了武器, 并摧毁了村墙的城门。

Some of this resistance was organized by local leaders who worried that the British regime would threaten the power that their families had enjoyed for several centuries.
Other concerns were similar to those that inspired resistance against colonial expansion elsewhere.
Villagers feared that the British invaders would impose new taxes, confiscate land, interfere with traditional customs, and disrupt feng shui.
Rumors spread that women would be raped.
Although the Convention of Peking stipulated that there would be "no expropriation or expulsion of the inhabitants of the district included within the extension" and that any land required for official purposes would be purchased at "a fair price," the villagers had good reason to believe otherwise.
To persuade villagers to sell their land cheaply, the two Chinese members of the Legislative Council, Ho Kai and Wei Yuk—along with other Chinese businessmen—had spread rumors that the British were going to seize all land.

► gork: 可以,但强烈不推荐.	固定搭配的习惯用法: “have (no / little / every) intention of + doing sth” 是英语中最常见的结构。 He had no intention of paying.（最自然） He had no intention to pay.（可接受，但较少见，略显美式或非正式） 语义细微差别（通俗解释）: • intention of doing → 更强调“是否真的有这个打算 / 行为本身”（像在评估一个人内心有没有这个计划）。 • intention to do → 更像“目的 / 目标是去做某事”，听起来稍微更主动、更正式。 原句想表达的是“英国人几乎没有要大幅干预当地生活的打算”，这里是描述“缺乏某种意图的状态”，所以 of + gerund 更贴合。
► ChatGPT: 可以,但不自然.	在这句话里，they had little intention of interfering 是更自然、更地道的表达； 改成 they had little intention to interfere (v.) 语法上不算错误，但明显不如原句自然，尤其在正式书面语中。 “intention” 是一个表示“意图”的名词。它后面可以接两种结构： 一种是 of + 动名词（-ing） 一种是 to + 不定式 little / no intention of doing 是一个高度固定化的搭配。 你会发现，很多所谓“可替换结构”，真正差别不在规则，而在长期语言使用形成的搭配惯性。
► DeepSeek: 不行	不可以。在 intention 这个词后面，固定搭配的介词是 of，再接动名词 (V-ing)，构成 intention of doing sth 的结构，表示“做某事的意图”。 英语中有一类表示“计划、意图、想法、可能性”等的抽象名词，其后的定语通常用 of + 动名词，而不是不定式。常见的这类名词有： intention of doing (做的意图) idea of doing (做的想法) hope of doing (做的希望) possibility of doing (做的可能性)

	way of doing (做的方法) habit of doing (做的习惯) 不定式（to do）虽然也常用来表示"目的或未来的动作"，但它通常与动词搭配（如 decide to do, want to do），或与一些由形容词转化来的名词搭配（如 ability to do, willingness to do）。

Example 28. 案例

我问: 这里, administering the region 是做 spent 的状语, 还是做 money的后置定语?

如果 administering the region 是修饰 money 的后置定语，那整句话等于：
spent (v.) more money that (指money) was administering the region
听起来已经不对劲了。钱不会“管理一个地区”。钱不能执行动作。所以从语义上已经可以排除“后置定语”。

那它是什么？它是一个 现在分词状语（participial clause），表示方式或用途。
等于：spent (v.) money (on) administering the region

再换个结构帮助你看清：
She spent hours studying.
They wasted time arguing.
He spent millions building a bridge.

这些结构都是： spend + 时间/金钱 + doing something

再做一个小测试。 如果你把 administering 提前：

- Administering the region, the government spent over thirty times more money...
  这就变成了典型的状语结构，意思仍然通顺。

但如果它是定语，就不能这样挪动。
所以从可移动性也能判断，它不是定语。

The region produced numerous administrative hassles for the colonial government, which, confounded by confusing and inconsistent patterns of land ownership, set about resurveying the land.
Much of the land was not very fertile (as now, most food in Hong Kong came from China).
In the first year or so, the colonial government spent over thirty times more money administering the region than it received in revenue.
From the beginning of the British occupation, the region was exempt from many ordinances that applied to Hong Kong, including some dealing with abattoirs and markets, public health, opium, licensing, and registration.
Over time, the New Territories came to play an increasingly vital role in Hong Kong’s economy.
Nevertheless, many traditional Chinese customs that had begun to fade away in urban Hong Kong and in mainland China—especially after the Communist revolution of 1949—persisted in the rural New Territories well into the 1970s.
For example, the practice preventing women from inheriting land remained legal until the 1990s, long after it was abolished on the mainland and on Taiwan.

Alexander Grantham, governor from 1947 to 1957, described the New Territories as "almost more Chinese than China itself." 6 无论从理论上还是实践中, 新界的大部分地区最终都与香港其他地区有着不同的行政管理方式——这并非出于殖民政府的仁慈, 而主要是因为该地区长期以来与广东省其他地区紧密相连。新界给殖民政府带来了诸多行政难题, 由于土地所有权混乱且不一致, 殖民政府不得不重新勘测土地。当时, 新界的大部分土地并不肥沃（正如现在一样, 香港的大部分食物都来自中国内地）。在最初的一年左右, 殖民政府在新界的行政支出是其收入的三十多倍。从英国占领之初, 新界就不受适用于香港的许多法令的约束, 其中包括一些关于屠宰场和市场、公共卫生、鸦片、执照和登记等方面的法令。随着时间的推移, 新界在香港经济中扮演的角色日益重要。然而, 许多在香港城市和中国大陆（尤其是在 1949 年共产党革命之后）开始逐渐消失的传统中国习俗, 在新界农村地区却一直延续到 20 世纪 70 年代。例如, 禁止女性继承土地的习俗在新界一直合法到 20 世纪 90 年代, 远早于大陆和台湾废除该习俗的时间。1947 年至 1957 年担任香港总督的亚历山大·格兰瑟姆曾形容新界"几乎比中国大陆更像中国"。 6

A peculiar feature of the Convention of Peking was the exclusion of a Chinese walled garrison that the Qing had expanded substantially after the British occupation of Hong Kong Island and after the cession of Kowloon.
According to the convention, the area would remain under Chinese administration “except so far as may be inconsistent with the military requirements for the defence of Hong Kong.” When Qing imperial troops helped villagers resist British rule in the New Territories in 1899, however, the British unilaterally declared the area no longer under Chinese jurisdiction.
The area would later become a source of contention between the British and Chinese governments.
When the British tried in the 1930s, 1940s, and 1960s to clear the area for sanitary reasons and to resettle the residents, local residents appealed to the respective Chinese governments, which reminded the British that the area was still technically under Chinese jurisdiction.
Indeed, the Walled City became such a powerful symbol of Chinese sovereignty in British Hong Kong that patriotic protesters torched the British consulate in Canton in 1948 after the colonial government tried to destroy the city and build a park in its place.
