003-04 THE RISE OF THE HONG KONG CHINESE BOURGEOISIE (中产阶级；资产阶级，资本家阶级) 香港华人资产阶级的崛起

Table of Contents

1. THE RISE OF THE HONG KONG CHINESE BOURGEOISIE (中产阶级；资产阶级，资本

---

1. THE RISE OF THE HONG KONG CHINESE BOURGEOISIE (中产阶级；资产阶级，资本家阶级) 香港华人资产阶级的崛起

In the late 1800s and early 1900s, a new class of Chinese businessmen and professionals 专业人士 began to emerge in Hong Kong, which had become the center of a Chinese capitalist 资本主义的 expansion that ranged （在一定范围内）变化;涉及；包括 from China to Southeast Asia.

19世纪末20世纪初，香港开始涌现出一批新的中国商人和专业人士阶层。当时的香港已成为中国资本主义扩张的中心，这种扩张的范围从中国延伸至东南亚。

Apart from controlling trade with China and Southeast Asia, Chinese began to dominate the industrial sector of Hong Kong’s economy.

In the late 1880s and 1890s /the colony received a new group of immigrants 移民 in the form of 以...的形式 overseas Chinese 海外华侨 from Australia, Canada, and the United States —the result of restrictive 限制性的；约束的 immigration laws 后定说明 introduced 提出；推行；采用 by the British Dominions 自治领；英联邦自治领 and by the American Exclusion Acts 排斥法案 of 1887.

19世纪80年代末和90年代，该殖民地接收了一批新的移民，他们是来自澳大利亚、加拿大和美国的华侨——这是英国自治领实施限制性移民法以及1887年美国《排华法案》带来的结果。

Example 1. 案例

这里的 British Dominions（英国自治领）主要指当时大英帝国下属的澳大利亚（当时还是各殖民地）、加拿大和新西兰。

所谓的“限制性移民法律”，其实就是这些国家在 19 世纪末为了排斥华工、维护“白人利益”而颁布的一系列带有种族歧视色彩的法律，最著名的就是“人头税”和“白澳政策”。

Political instability in China supplied a steady influx of wealthy Chinese immigrants, who brought with them new capital , entrepreneurial 创业的；具有企业家精神的 skills, and valuable business connections 人脉；关系；联系.

By the early 1900s, Chinese also owned the most real estate in Hong Kong.

The completion 完成；竣工 of the Kowloon-Canton Railway in 1910 谓 linked (v.) Hong Kong with Chinese and international markets, helping local industrialists 实业家；工业家 import (v.) and export (v.) raw materials and manufactured goods.

Example 2. 案例
我问: 这里 helping local industrialists 为什么用的是 -ing, 而不是 -ed, 不写成 helped ... ?

► ChatGPT:

如果写成 helped，会出现语法问题:

The completion of ... linked (v.) Hong Kong with ..., helped... .
这就出现了两个并列谓语：linked, helped.

其实, 这句话里 用 -ing, helping 是做“分词结果状语”。用 helping 可以表达一种因果延续：

A happened, thereby helping (v.) B happen.

这种结构在历史叙述和学术写作里非常常见。例如：
- The policy lowered tariffs, encouraging (v.) foreign investment.
- The canal opened new trade routes, stimulating (v.) economic growth.
- The reform reduced corruption, strengthening (v.) public trust.

这些 -ing 都是在表达：
结果是……
从而……

从语义节奏上看，这也是一种“历史叙事压缩术”。英语史学写作很喜欢把一连串因果关系串成一个句子：
事件 → 直接结果 → 次级影响

在你的句子里就是：
铁路完成 → 香港与国际市场连接 → 工业家更容易进出口原料和产品

这里有一个小规律，掌握以后读历史和学术英语会轻松很多。

当 -ing 分词接在整个主句后面时，它常常表达三种关系之一：
1.结果
2.原因
3.伴随情况

你的句子属于 结果型。

类似结构在学术写作里非常常见：
- The reform reduced tariffs, encouraging trade.
- The discovery opened new research directions, leading to further breakthroughs.
- The railway linked inland China to Hong Kong, transforming regional commerce.

这些 -ing 都不是在强调主动，而是在表达一种 顺势产生的结果。

总结:

你的判断 “completion 和 helping 是主动关系” ——是对的。

但 helping 的真正作用不是表达主动，而是：
把第二个动作压缩成 结果状语分词结构， 表示 “从而 / 因而 / 进而”。

英语在这里做的是一种语法压缩，让一连串历史因果关系塞进一个句子里。 历史写作特别爱这种结构，因为历史本身就是一条长长的“因果链”。

Example 3. 案例

In the late 1800s and early 1900s, a new class of Chinese businessmen and professionals began to emerge in Hong Kong, which had become the center of a Chinese capitalist expansion that ranged from China to Southeast Asia.
Apart from controlling trade with China and Southeast Asia, Chinese began to dominate the industrial sector of Hong Kong’ s economy.
In the late 1880s and 1890s the colony received a new group of immigrants in the form of overseas Chinese from Australia, Canada, and the United States—the result of restrictive immigration laws introduced by the British Dominions and by the American Exclusion Acts of 1887.
Political instability in China supplied a steady influx of wealthy Chinese immigrants, who brought with them new capital, entrepreneurial skills, and valuable business connections.
By the early 1900s, Chinese also owned the most real estate in Hong Kong.
The completion of the Kowloon-Canton Railway in 1910 linked Hong Kong with Chinese and international markets, helping local industrialists import and export raw materials and manufactured goods. 19世纪末20世纪初, 香港涌现出一批新的华人商人和专业人士。当时, 香港已成为中国资本主义扩张的中心, 其版图从中国大陆延伸至东南亚。除了掌控与中国大陆和东南亚的贸易外, 华人也开始主导香港经济的工业部门。19世纪80年代末90年代, 由于英国自治领地实施的限制性移民法以及1887年美国《排华法案》的影响, 香港迎来了一批新的移民群体, 他们主要来自澳大利亚、加拿大和美国。中国的政治动荡也促使大量富裕的华人移民涌入香港, 他们带来了新的资本、创业技能和宝贵的商业人脉。到20世纪初, 华人已拥有香港最多的房地产。1910年九广铁路的建成通车, 将香港与中国大陆及国际市场连接起来, 极大地促进了本地实业家进出口原材料和制成品。

The rising economic status of the Chinese bourgeoisie 资产阶级 was also evident in the growth of consumer culture 消费者文化 and conspicuous (a.)显眼的；炫耀的 consumption 消费.

Example 4. 案例
bourgeoisie

→ bourg 相当于英语中的 town。 bourgeoisie，意思就是住在小镇的这种非农业人口。

主 Department stores such as ① the Sincere Company, founded in 1900 by Ma Ying Piu, a Chinese who had made his fortune in Australia, ② and the Wing On 永安百货 Department Store, founded in 1907 by the Kwok brothers, who had also made their money in Australia, 谓 signaled 标志；表明 the growth of a bourgeois Chinese commercial culture.

Here, Chinese shoppers 购物者 could purchase almost anything they desired —Cuban cigars, Italian felt 毛毡 hats, American razors 剃刀, French champagne, Swiss chocolate, American gramophones 留声机, Japanese robes 长袍；浴衣 made from Chinese silk, and English suits 套装；西装, shoes, and cigarettes.

Example 5. 案例

felt

→ 来自PIE*pel, 击，打，推动，词源同 filter (过滤；渗入，透过), impel (推动，驱使). 即击打或弹制处理过的羊毛或棉花。比较fustian.

英 /felt/ 美 /felt/ 全球发音

简明 牛津 新牛津 韦氏 柯林斯 例句 百科 felt n. /felt/

[U]a type of soft thick cloth made from wool or hair that has been pressed tightly together毛毡

• a felt hat毡帽

——see also feel , felt , feltv.

gramophones

With the improved economic status 谓 came an increase (n.) in cohesiveness 凝聚力；团结性 and organization, enhanced by the emergence of a new group of retailers 零售商；零售店, bankers, and industrialists 工业家；实业家 in the early years of the twentieth century.

New organizations represented the interests of the Chinese business community, such as the Chinese Chamber of Commerce 商会, founded in 1896 by prominent merchants and compradors 买办.

Example 6. 案例

The rising economic status of the Chinese bourgeoisie was also evident in the growth of consumer culture and conspicuous consumption.
Department stores such as the Sincere Company, founded in 1900 by Ma Ying Piu, a Chinese who had made his fortune in Australia, and the Wing On Department Store, founded in 1907 by the Kwok brothers, who had also made their money in Australia, signaled the growth of a bourgeois Chinese commercial culture.
Here, Chinese shoppers could purchase almost anything they desired—Cuban cigars, Italian felt hats, American razors, French champagne, Swiss chocolate, American gramophones, Japanese robes made from Chinese silk, and English suits, shoes, and cigarettes.
With the improved economic status came an increase in cohesiveness and organization, enhanced by the emergence of a new group of retailers, bankers, and industrialists in the early years of the twentieth century.
New organizations represented the interests of the Chinese business community, such as the Chinese Chamber of Commerce, founded in 1896 by prominent merchants and compradors. 中国资产阶级经济地位的提升也体现在消费文化和炫耀性消费的兴起上。例如, 由在澳大利亚发迹的华人马英彪于1900年创立的信安百货公司, 以及由同样在澳大利亚积累财富的郭氏兄弟于1907年创立的永安百货公司, 都标志着中国资产阶级商业文化的兴起。在这些百货公司里, 华人顾客几乎可以买到任何他们想要的东西——古巴雪茄、意大利毡帽、美国剃须刀、法国香槟、瑞士巧克力、美国留声机、用中国丝绸制成的日本和服, 以及英国西装、皮鞋和香烟。随着经济地位的提高, 社会凝聚力和组织性也随之增强, 而20世纪初新兴的零售商、银行家和实业家群体则进一步强化了这一趋势。新的组织代表了华人商业界的利益, 例如中华总商会, 它由著名商人和买办于1896 年创立。

Despite their status and wealth, 主 the members of the Chinese bourgeoisie 资产阶级, 中产阶级, like all Chinese in Hong Kong, 谓 continued to face (v.) racial discrimination 种族歧视 at every turn 不断地、一直、始终如一地;经常；处处；每次.

Racial segregation 种族隔离 was enforced both legally and informally.

In 1901 a group of Europeans petitioned (v.)请愿；请求 the colonial government for a separate school for Europeans, arguing that integrated 综合的；整合的；各阶层混合的 education harmed (v.) the morality 道德；道德准则 and character 品格；品质；性格 of European children.

Although one Chinese resident complained (v.) in the local press that “主 to exclude 把……排除在外；不包括 Chinese from certain schools 谓 means to go against the law of nature 自然法则 and to aggravate (v.)加重；使恶化；激怒 the hatred (n.)仇恨；憎恨 between Chinese and foreigners” and Secretary for the Colonies Chamberlain （国王或女王的）内侍；（旧时贵族的）管家 condemned 谴责；指责 the proposal 提议；建议, it enjoyed (v.) great support among European parents 父母；双亲 and the colonial government.

Example 7. 案例
chamberlain

(n.) an official who managed the home /and servants (n.)仆人；服务员 of a king, queen or important family in past centuries （国王或女王的）内侍；（旧时贵族的）管家

→ chamber, 室。-lain, 小词后缀，同-ling, 见underling.

Ironically, the new school, the Kowloon British School, had originally been built and presented to the colonial government by the Eurasian 欧亚混血的；欧亚人的 Robert Ho Tung as a school for all races.

Ho Tung now reluctantly agreed, regretting 后悔 a decision "so opposed to 与……相反；反对 the spirit 后定说明 which prompted 促使；导致；激起 my offer of the school to the Colony."

Ho Tung 此刻不情愿地同意了，对这一决定感到后悔，称其"与我向殖民地捐赠学校时所秉持的精神，截然相悖"。

Chinese were barred 禁止；不准 from the Hong Kong Club and the Hong Kong Jockey（尤指职业的）赛马骑师 Club, and in some hotels /Chinese guests could stay only in certain rooms /or could not stay overnight.

华人被禁止进入香港会和香港赛马会，在一些酒店里，华人客人只能入住特定房间，或者不能过夜。

Example 8. 案例

Despite their status and wealth, the members of the Chinese bourgeoisie, like all Chinese in Hong Kong, continued to face racial discrimination at every turn.
Racial segregation was enforced both legally and informally.
In 1901 a group of Europeans petitioned the colonial government for a separate school for Europeans, arguing that integrated education harmed the morality and character of European children.
Although one Chinese resident complained in the local press that "to exclude Chinese from certain schools means to go against the law of nature and to aggravate the hatred between Chinese and foreigners" 9 and Secretary for the Colonies Chamberlain condemned the proposal, it enjoyed great support among European parents and the colonial government.
Ironically, the new school, the Kowloon British School, had originally been built and presented to the colonial government by the Eurasian Robert Ho Tung as a school for all races.
Ho Tung now reluctantly agreed, regretting a decision "so opposed to the spirit which prompted my offer of the school to the Colony." 10 Chinese were barred from the Hong Kong Club and the Hong Kong Jockey Club, and in some hotels Chinese guests could stay only in certain rooms or could not stay overnight. 尽管地位显赫、家境富裕, 但香港的中国资产阶级成员, 如同所有华人一样, 处处遭受种族歧视。种族隔离既有法律层面的, 也有非正式的。1901 年, 一群欧洲人向殖民地政府请愿, 要求设立一所专门为欧洲人设立的学校, 他们认为融合教育会损害欧洲儿童的道德和品格。尽管一位华人居民在当地报刊上抱怨说, "将华人排除在某些学校之外, 违背了自然规律, 加剧了华人与外国人之间的仇恨", 殖民地事务大臣张伯伦也谴责了这一提议, 但它却得到了欧洲家长和殖民地政府的大力支持。具有讽刺意味的是, 这所新学校——九龙英国学校——最初是由欧亚混血儿何东捐建并赠予殖民地政府的, 当时的设想是一所面向所有种族的学校。何东如今勉强同意了, 并对这一决定感到后悔, 称其"与我当初向殖民地捐赠这所学校的初衷背道而驰"。 10 名中国人被禁止进入香港俱乐部和香港赛马会, 一些酒店的中国客人只能入住特定房间或不能过夜。

A particularly visible example of this government-enforced (a.)政府强制的 racial divide (n.)差异，分歧；隔阂 was Victoria Peak, the exclusive 独有的；专用的；排外的 hill district

区域 on Hong Kong Island where 主 no Chinese, except for the servants 仆人；佣人, cooks, houseboys 男仆；家庭杂役, and drivers working for Europeans, 系 were to live.

这种由政府强制推行的种族隔离的一个尤为明显的例子便是太平山——香港岛上的专属山区，在这里，除了为欧洲人工作的佣人、厨师、男仆和司机外，任何中国人都不得居住。

Example 9. 案例

no Chinese were to live 这里 为什么用的时 to live?

► ChatGPT :

be + to + 动词原形。它不是普通的不定式，而是一种带有 "规定、命令、安排或制度性规则"意味的表达。

where no Chinese ... were to live 字面上如果机械翻译，会像是：没有中国人 要去居住.
但真正的意思并不是“打算住”，而是：不允许居住 / 不得居住 / 规定不得居住

be to + verb 在英语里常用于表达 "官方规定、制度安排、命令或计划"。语气比普通的情态动词更像一种“制度性安排”。
换句话说，它带有一种隐含结构：were required / allowed / permitted to live

例:
- 法律或规则： No vehicles are to enter the park after midnight.（午夜后车辆不得进入公园）
- 军事命令： Soldiers are to remain at their posts.（士兵必须留在岗位上）
- 官方安排： The president is to visit Japan next week.（总统将按安排访问日本）

所以,
- 如果作者写成：no Chinese lived there ← 那只是描述事实。
- 如果写：no Chinese could live there ← 那强调能力或许可。
- 但写：no Chinese were to live there ← 语气变成：制度规定他们不得居住。

► DeepSeek:

这里使用 “were to live” 是一种法律条文或官方规定的书面表达方式，表示“被规定/被允许居住”，带有强烈的“指令性”和“规范性”色彩。

“were to live” 在这里不是表示“将要居住”（将来时），而是表示“被允许居住”或“按规定居住”。 它描述的不是一个事实（fact），而是一个规则（rule）。 be + to do 结构，是"被动语态 + 不定式", 表示“被安排/被规定做某事”。

这种 be + to do结构在法规中非常常见：
- No person is to enter without permission.（未经许可，任何人不得入内。）
- The contract is to be signed by both parties.（合同须由双方签署。）

In 1902 this residential segregation 隔离；分离 became law when the Colonial Office allowed the Peak to be used solely by residents 后定说明 approved by the governor.

1902年，这种居住隔离成为法律，当时殖民部允许山顶仅由"总督批准的居民"使用。

Subsequent ordinances 法令；条例 passed in 1904 and 1918 谓 explicitly 明确地；明白地 barred 禁止；阻止 Chinese and Eurasians from living on the Peak.

Example 10. 案例

这句话中, 到底谁是谓语? 是passed 还是 barred ? 理由是什么?

passed 不是谓语. 因为这里的 passed 表示“通过（法令）”。而通过法令的人(逻辑主语)其实是立法机关，不是 ordinances。
所以, 这里的逻辑其实是 ordinances that were passed in 1904 and 1918

As in India and other British colonies, Europeans in Hong Kong worried that 主 close contact with Chinese 谓 posed 造成；引起（威胁、危险、问题等）；提出（问题） serious physiological 生理的；生理上的 and moral risks.

Most Europeans in Hong Kong believed that /the fate of the colony depended on the health of its European population.

Amid 在…之中 the fears of increased (a.) contact with Chinese and rising economic competition from the Chinese bourgeoisie 资产阶级；中产阶级, these restriction movements were attempts (n.) to preserve the status and social structure of the elite (a.) European community of Hong Kong.

Example 11. 案例

A particularly visible example of this government-enforced racial divide was Victoria Peak, the exclusive hill district on Hong Kong Island where no Chinese, except for the servants, cooks, houseboys, and drivers working for Europeans, were to live.
In 1902 this residential segregation became law when the Colonial Office allowed the Peak to be used solely by residents approved by the governor.
Subsequent ordinances passed in 1904 and 1918 explicitly barred Chinese and Eurasians from living on the Peak.
As in India and other British colonies, Europeans in Hong Kong worried that close contact with Chinese posed serious physiological and moral risks.
Most Europeans in Hong Kong believed that the fate of the colony depended on the health of its European population.
Amid the fears of increased contact with Chinese and rising economic competition from the Chinese bourgeoisie, these restriction movements were attempts to preserve the status and social structure of the elite European community of Hong Kong. 政府强制推行种族隔离的一个显著例子是太平山顶。这座位于香港岛的专属山地住宅区, 除了为欧洲人工作的仆人、厨师、男仆和司机外, 任何华人都不得居住于此。1902年, 殖民地事务部允许只有总督批准的居民才能使用太平山顶, 这一居住隔离制度由此正式生效。随后, 1904年和1918年颁布的法令明确禁止华人和欧亚混血儿居住在太平山顶。如同在印度和其他英国殖民地一样, 香港的欧洲人担心与华人密切接触会带来严重的生理和道德风险。大多数在港欧洲人认为, 殖民地的命运取决于其欧洲居民的健康状况。在担忧与华人接触增多以及来自中国资产阶级日益激烈的经济竞争的背景下, 这些限制措施旨在维护香港欧洲精英阶层的地位和社会结构。

How did Chinese and Eurasians in Hong Kong respond to the racial discrimination 种族歧视 that was so prevalent 普遍的；盛行的 in Hong Kong?

Irene Cheng, Robert Ho Tung’s daughter, insisted that /主 the Peak District Bill of 1918, which prohibited 禁止；不准 non-Europeans from living on the Peak, 系 was “bitterly resented (v.)强烈反感；愤恨 by the Chinese and other Asian residents of Hong Kong.”

But the Chinese members of the Legislative Council did not oppose (v.) the Peak ordinance, and only during the general strike 大罢工 of 1925–1926 was there a demand 后定说明 that Chinese be allowed (虚拟语气) to live on the Peak.

Example 12. 案例
there was a demand that Chinese be allowed to live on the Peak 我问: 这里 Chinese be allowed 是不是省略了 should? 完整是应该是 Chinese should be allowed ?

► ChatGPT:

这里不是省略了什么，而是 "虚拟语气"的标准形式。

真正发生的事情是：虚拟语气（mandative subjunctive）
关键结构是：demand that + 主语 + 动词原形

当然, 如果把它换成更直白的结构，可以写成：
there was a demand that Chinese should be allowed to live on the Peak 但这里 should 只是一个“解释型补充”，帮助读者理解语气，而在现代英语（特别是美式英语）里通常直接用 be。

这种结构在政治、法律、新闻和学术写作中非常常见，因为它表达的是：要求 / 建议 / 命令 / 规定

例如：
- They demanded that /the law be repealed.
- The committee recommended that /he be appointed chairman.
- The constitution requires that /the president be elected.

注意这些句子里动词都保持原形。

And even this demand came from the strike organizers 罢工组织者, who could hardly have afforded 买得起；负担得起 to live on the Peak /even had they been allowed to do so.

Example 13. 案例
这里 even had they 是用了倒装吗?

► ChatGPT:

是的，这是虚拟条件句倒装（inverted conditional）.

正常语序是: even if they had been allowed to do so

这种倒装有一个规律：当 if 条件句使用 had / were / should 时，可以把 if 省掉，并把助动词提前。
于是就变成：had they been allowed

三个最典型的模式是：

Header 1	Header 2
1.Had + 主语 + 过去分词（= if + 过去完成时）	• Had they known the truth, they would have acted differently. = If they had known the truth...
2.Were + 主语 + ...（= if + were）	• Were I you, I would refuse. = If I were you...
3.Should + 主语 + 动词（= if + should）	• Should you need help, call me. = If you should need help...

In 1919, a similar ordinance reserved (v.)预留；保留 part of the island of Cheung Chau 长洲岛 as a vacation reserve 度假胜地；专用区域 for British and American missionaries 传教士.

This time, however, the Chinese members of the Legislative Council objected 反对；不赞成.

Lau Chu Pak expressed his surprise and disappointment 同位 that even missionaries could behave (v.)表现；举止 in such a manner, while Ho Fook, Robert Ho Tung’s brother, condemned 谴责；指责 the bill as little 仅仅是,只是...而已 more than “racial legislation 种族立法”.

Lau Chu Pak 表达了他的惊讶与失望：就连传教士竟然也会做出这种行径。而何东的弟弟何福则谴责该法案不过是“种族立法”。 that even missionaries could behave in such a manner 同位语从句, 解释说明前面抽象名词 surprise and disappointment 的具体内容.

Example 14. 案例

常见可接"同位语从句"的抽象名词: fact / news / idea / hope / belief / doubt / promise / suggestion / surprise / disappointment

Little more than

“略多于”主要意为“仅，只不过，也就是”，常用来表示很少或不重要。也可根据语境字面理解为“略高于”或“稍多于”。其强调程度轻，类似于 "only" 或 "just"。

Header 1	Header 2
无非，只不过，仅 (Only, just, merely): 强调很少或不重要。	• He did little /more than watch TV. (他无非就是在看电视。)
略高于，稍多于 (Slightly more than): 字面上的数量或程度略微增加。	• They headed into the jungle, armed with little /more than a map and compass. (他们向丛林进发，仅凭地图和指南针。)

A few Chinese were permitted by the Executive Council to live on that section of the island in the 1930s, but the Peak and Cheung Chau ordinances were not repealed 废除；撤销 until 1946.

Example 15. 案例

How did Chinese and Eurasians in Hong Kong respond to the racial discrimination that was so prevalent in Hong Kong? Irene Cheng, Robert Ho Tung’s daughter, insisted that the Peak District Bill of 1918, which prohibited non-Europeans from living on the Peak, was “bitterly resented by the Chinese and other Asian residents of Hong Kong.” 11 But the Chinese members of the Legislative Council did not oppose the Peak ordinance, and only during the general strike of 1925–1926 was there a demand that Chinese be allowed to live on the Peak.
And even this demand came from the strike organizers, who could hardly have afforded to live on the Peak even had they been allowed to do so.
In 1919, a similar ordinance reserved part of the island of Cheung Chau as a vacation reserve for British and American missionaries.
This time, however, the Chinese members of the Legislative Council objected.

Lau Chu Pak expressed his surprise and disappointment that even missionaries could behave in such a manner, while Ho Fook, Robert Ho Tung’s brother, condemned the bill as little more than “racial legislation.” A few Chinese were permitted by the Executive Council to live on that section of the island in the 1930s, but the Peak and Cheung Chau ordinances were not repealed until 1946. 在香港, 华人和其他亚裔居民如何应对当时普遍存在的种族歧视？何东的女儿郑若骅坚称, 1918 年的《山顶条例》禁止非欧洲人居住在太平山顶, 这“令香港华人和其他亚裔居民深感愤慨”。 11 但立法会的华人议员并未反对这项山顶条例, 直到 1925-1926 年的大罢工期间, 才有人要求允许华人居住在太平山顶。而即便这一要求也来自罢工组织者, 他们即便获准居住在太平山顶, 也难以负担得起那里的生活。1919 年, 一项类似的条例将长洲岛的一部分划为英国和美国传教士的度假区。然而, 这一次, 立法会的华人议员提出了反对意见。刘柱柏对传教士竟有如此行径表示震惊和失望, 而何福（何东的兄弟）则谴责该法案不过是“种族立法”。20 世纪 30 年代, 行政会议允许少数华人居住在岛上的这一区域, 但山顶和长洲的法令直到 1946 年才被废除。

For the most part, wealthy Chinese and Eurasians responded to racial discrimination 种族歧视 by creating their own exclusive 独有的；排外的 social world.

These leaders often considered themselves members of a special class, distinct (a.)有区别的；不同的 from the rest of the local Chinese population and from their counterparts 职位相当的人；对应的人 in China.

In March 1901, for example, a group of Chinese elites asked Governor Blake to establish a special school exclusively 专门地；独占地 for their own children.

The signatures 签名 on the petition 请愿书 belonged to some of Hong Kong’s most prominent Chinese residents.

Ho Kai was a barrister 大律师；出庭律师, physician 医师；内科医生, financier 金融家；理财家, and unofficial member of the Legislative Council.

Wei Yuk, a close friend of Ho Kai and one of the first Chinese to study in Britain, was an unofficial Legislative Council member, comprador 买办 to the Mercantile (a.)贸易的，商业的；营利主义的 Bank of India, and former chairman of the Tung Wah Hospital.

Tso Seen Wan was a prominent solicitor 事务律师；诉状律师 educated in England.

The petitioners 请愿者 argued that “主 the indiscriminate (a.)不加区分的；任意的；杂乱的 and intimate 亲密的；密切的 mingling 混合；交往 of children from families of the most various (a.)各种各样的；迥异的，千差万别的 social and moral standing 地位；身份；名望” 谓 rendered (v.)使成为,使处于某种状态;给予，提供 the existing 现存的；现有的 government schools “absolutely undesirable 不受欢迎的；不合意的 as well as 和，以及，还有 unsuitable 不合适的；不适宜的 for the sons and daughters of respectable Chinese families.”

请愿者们称，“来自社会地位和道德水准千差万别的家庭的孩子们, 不加区分地密切混杂在一起”，这使得现有的公立学校“对于体面华人家庭的子女来说，完全不合心意, 且不合适”。

Although some members of the Chinese community objected 反对；不赞成, the new school was built the next year.

Example 16. 案例

For the most part, wealthy Chinese and Eurasians responded to racial discrimination by creating their own exclusive social world.
These leaders often considered themselves members of a special class, distinct from the rest of the local Chinese population and from their counterparts in China.
In March 1901, for example, a group of Chinese elites asked Governor Blake to establish a special school exclusively for their own children.
The signatures on the petition belonged to some of Hong Kong’s most prominent Chinese residents.
Ho Kai was a barrister, physician, financier, and unofficial member of the Legislative Council.
Wei Yuk, a close friend of Ho Kai and one of the first Chinese to study in Britain, was an unofficial Legislative Council member, comprador to the Mercantile Bank of India, and former chairman of the Tung Wah Hospital.
Tso Seen Wan was a prominent solicitor educated in England.
The petitioners argued that “the indiscriminate and intimate mingling of children from families of the most various social and moral standing” rendered the existing government schools “absolutely undesirable as well as unsuitable for the sons and daughters of respectable Chinese families.” Although some members of the Chinese community objected, the new school was built the next year. 大多数情况下, 富裕的华人和欧亚混血儿通过建立自己的专属社交圈来应对种族歧视。这些领袖人物往往认为自己属于一个特殊的阶层, 与当地其他华人以及中国大陆的华人截然不同。例如, 1901年3月, 一群华人精英请求布莱克总督为他们的孩子设立一所专门的学校。请愿书上的签名者包括一些香港最杰出的华人居民。何佳是一位大律师、医生、金融家, 也是立法会的非正式成员。魏玉是何佳的密友, 也是最早赴英留学的华人之一, 他曾是立法会的非正式成员、印度商业银行的买办, 以及东华医院的前任主席。曹善云是一位在英国接受教育的著名律师。请愿者认为, “来自社会和道德地位迥异的家庭的孩子们不加区分地混杂在一起”, 使得现有的公立学校“对于体面的华人家庭的子女来说, 既不理想也不合适”。尽管一些华人社区成员表示反对, 但新学校还是在第二年建成。

The leaders of the Hong Kong Chinese bourgeoisie 资产阶级 also established several exclusive (a.) clubs and associations 协会；社团 to enhance (v.) and perpetuate (v.)使持续；使长久 their elite status.

Barred 禁止；阻挡 from the Hong Kong Club, several prominent Chinese and Eurasians formed (v.) their own club in 1899: the Chinese Club.

Among the founders were the Eurasian brothers Robert Ho Tung and Ho Kam Tong.

Another founder, Kwan Sun Yin, was one of the first Chinese practitioners 从业者；执业者 of Western medicine in Hong Kong.

Membership 会员资格；成员身份 and directorship 董事职位；管理层职位 were restricted to some of the most prominent Chinese and Eurasian businessmen and professionals in Hong Kong.

Another elite club was the Chinese Recreation 娱乐（活动），消遣（活动） Club, founded in 1912 by Ho Kai, Wei Yuk, and several other prominent Chinese.

Apart from 除了…之外 enjoying such British sports and games as cricket 板球, tennis, and billiards 台球，桌球, members could practice Chinese martial arts 武术 or play mah-jongg 麻将.

Example 17. 案例
billiards

→ 词源同 bole, 树干。指用树干削成的台球杆。来自PIE *bhel, 膨胀，生长。词源同ball.

Even more important than the sports were the institutions 机构；制度 and functions 社交活动；公共活动 surrounding them.

As in the British clubs, 主 the Chinese Recreation Club’s screening 筛选；审查 process 系 was rigorous 严格的；缜密的, and membership fees 会费 were high.

Club rules were strict, and proper 正确的，合适的；合理的，合乎体统的 cricket and tennis whites 白色运动(网球)服 were required.

The club’s directors 主管 and members were some of the best-known Chinese and Eurasian men of the colony.

Example 18. 案例

The leaders of the Hong Kong Chinese bourgeoisie also established several exclusive clubs and associations to enhance and perpetuate their elite status.
Barred from the Hong Kong Club, several prominent Chinese and Eurasians formed their own club in 1899: the Chinese Club.
Among the founders were the Eurasian brothers Robert Ho Tung and Ho Kam Tong.
Another founder, Kwan Sun Yin, was one of the first Chinese practitioners of Western medicine in Hong Kong.
Membership and directorship were restricted to some of the most prominent Chinese and Eurasian businessmen and professionals in Hong Kong.
Another elite club was the Chinese Recreation Club, founded in 1912 by Ho Kai, Wei Yuk, and several other prominent Chinese.
Apart from enjoying such British sports and games as cricket, tennis, and billiards, members could practice Chinese martial arts or play mah-jongg.
Even more important than the sports were the institutions and functions surrounding them.
As in the British clubs, the Chinese Recreation Club’s screening process was rigorous, and membership fees were high.
Club rules were strict, and proper cricket and tennis whites were required.
The club’s directors and members were some of the best-known Chinese and Eurasian men of the colony. 香港华人资产阶级领袖还建立了一些精英俱乐部和协会, 以提升和巩固其精英地位。由于被香港俱乐部拒之门外, 几位杰出的华裔和欧亚裔人士于1899年成立了自己的俱乐部：华人俱乐部。创始人包括欧亚裔兄弟何东和何锦堂。另一位创始人关顺贤是香港最早的西医从业者之一。俱乐部的会员资格和董事职位仅限于香港一些最杰出的华裔和欧亚裔商人和专业人士。另一个精英俱乐部是华人娱乐俱乐部, 由何佳、魏玉和其他几位华人于1912年创立。除了享受板球、网球和台球等英国体育运动外, 会员还可以练习中国武术或打麻将。比体育运动本身更重要的是围绕这些运动而建立的机构和活动。与英国俱乐部一样, 华人娱乐俱乐部的筛选程序非常严格, 会员费也很高。俱乐部规章制度十分严格, 要求穿着标准的板球和网球白色服装。俱乐部的董事和成员都是当时殖民地最知名的华裔和欧亚混血人士。