

- (037.) It can be inferred (v.) 推测;推断;推论 from the passage 段落, 章节;通道 /that 主 a historian who wished to compare (v.) crime rates 犯罪率 per thousand in a European city in one decade of the fifteenth century 十五世纪的十年间 with crime rates in another decade of that century 谓 would probably be most aided (v.) 帮助 by better information about which of the following 下列哪一项?

Example 1. 案例

- (037.) It can be inferred from the passage that a historian who wished to compare crime rates per thousand in a European city in one decade of the fifteenth century with crime rates in another decade of that century would probably be most aided by better information about which of the following?

从文章中可以推断出,一位希望比较15世纪欧洲城市某个十年与该世纪另一个十年的"千人犯罪率"的历史学家,最有可能通过以下哪一项的更好信息,而获得帮助?

从文章当中可以推断出来,一个[希望比较(15世纪的某个十年的)(某个欧洲城市中的每千人)犯罪率/与(另外一个十年中的)(城市中每千人)犯罪率/的]历史学家将会/被以下哪种信息的提 高/所最好地帮助?

infer

(v.) sth (from sth) : to reach an opinion or decide that sth is true on the basis of information that is available 推断;推论;推理 SYN deduce [VN]

• Much of the meaning must be inferred from the context. 大部分含意,必须从上下文中推断。

[V that]

• It is reasonable to infer (v.) that the government knew about these deals. 有理由推想政府知悉这些交易。

2. (non-standard) to suggest indirectly that sth is true 间接地提出;暗示;意指 [V (that)]

• Are you inferring (that) I'm not capable of doing the job? 你的言外之意是不是我不能胜任这份工作?